THE REVOLUTION IN NEW-GRANADA.

Seven out of the Eight States in Revolt.

Prospects of a Revolution in Costa Rica.

THE CIVIL WAR IN ECUADOR.

Our Claims Against Peru Still Unsettled.

WRECK OF THE BOSTON SHIP CHATSWORTH.

The Vanderbilt steamship Ariel, from Aspinwall on the 15th instant, arrived at this port yesterday morning. She brings the California mails of Sept. 1, anticipated by overland advices, and $1,202,675 in treasure.

The U. S. ship Brooklyn arrived at Aspinwall on the 15th inst., from Boca del Toro, and the frigate Sabine sailed on the same day for Vera Cruz.

The news from New-Granada, by this arrival, is ten days later, and that from the Central and South American States is a fortnight later.

The revolution in New-Granada still goes on, without either party gaining any decisive advantage. Seven out of the eight States of the Confederation are now in open revolt against the General Government.

There are prospects of another revolution in Costa Rica, as ex-President Mora is said to be gaining popular favor. From Nicaragua, San Salvador and Honduras the news is unimportant.

The civil war in Ecuador appears to be drawing to a close. Gen. Franco is unable to compete with Flores. The former has revoked the exequator of the American Consul at Guayaquil.

The American claims against Peru remain unadjusted.

A movement is on foot to make the Roman Catholic religion the established religion of Peru.

Gen. Belgu had arrived at Tacua, in Bolivia, where he nearly fell a victim to the fury of the people.

The American ship Chatsworth, from Boston, had gone ashore on the Chilian coast.

Business in Valparaiso was active.

NEW-GRANADA.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Panama, Saturday, Sept. 15, 1860.

In regard to the revolutionary war now waging in New-Granada, (in all the States but one, Boyaca,) the accounts are very unsatisfactory to those who only care to know the truth. This contest is not a "war of races," in which Gen. Mosquera has armed the pro-negro party against the whites—but although it may be partly the offspring of ambition and disappointment, it is in a much greater degree due to the lack of good faith in President Ospina and his Congress in administering the Government under the new federative Constitution. The election law, appointing Government agents to control the elections of the States—the militia laws, appointing inspectors to control the militia—the despotic powers conferred upon the National Intendentes in the several States, by which their Governors become mere nullities—the abridgment of the rights of the State Judiciary—and lastly, the infamous law under which an Intendente can even imprison and punish a Governor if he shall in any manner endeavor to thwart the national officers in their forced conscriptions—are all opposed to the letter as well as the spirit of the Constitution, and offered at least a good deal of justification for the acts of Mosquera, Nieto and others in resorting to arms. The fact is, Ospina is a Jesuit and a bigot, and seeks to restore the old Church tyranny again in New-Granada. How the contest will end is uncertain. It is certain, however, that peace cannot be permanently restored until the Government retraces many of its steps of the past two years. The election for President comes off the last Sunday in this month, and the "Conservatives" use the plausible argument, that if the Liberals and Mosquera do not like Ospina and his Administration of the Government, they might at least have waited till a new President is installed, which perchance might have been one of their own party. But the Liberals say the law of elections was expressly framed to perpetuate the "Conservative" rule, and that by waiting that rule would have only been the more strongly fastened upon and less easily removed. Gen. Herran, New-Granadian Minister to Washington, is Commander-in-Chief of the Government forces and the Conservative candidate for President, while his father-in-law, Gen. Mosquera, well known in New-York as an unsuccessful merchant in Broadway, is the candidate of the largest portion of the "Liberals," and is the chief of the revolution! A good many entertain the hope that the election of Gen. Herran will tend to the restoration of order, as, although he is the candidate of the Conservatives, he is not a bitter politician, and will not probably follow in the footsteps of Ospina. He certainly appears to me to be preferable to Mosquera for President, as the latter is a man of very despotic character, and has not a very high reputation as a statesman or man of good judgment.

I will give you the accounts of both sides in regard to the victories and defeats since the last steamer, only premising the accounts by the statement that seven out of the eight States are in revolt, or have considerable revolutionary strength in them—the exception being the State of Boyaca. Mosquera, Nieto and Consuegra, are the leaders of the revolt in Cauca, Bolivar and Magdalena, of which States they are the Governors. Mosquera is said to have a force of 5,000 to 6,000 in Cauca, a portion of which, under his own immediate command, have marched towards the State of Antioquia, on the road to Bogota, while Gen. Obando commands his forces for the defence of the State. In Santander and Bolivar, the revolutionary armies are not so great as in Cauca, but are sufficiently large to give the Government forces active employment, and to prevent them from concentrating very great strength upon any particular point.

The Government account of the last contests in Santander and at Santa Marta in Magdalena, is as follows:

On the 29th July a body, under Gen. Herran, had an encounter with the rebel troops of Santander at Agua Dulce. The enemy's forces being a great deal stronger, Gen. Herran had to retreat.

On the next day (July 30) Gen. Briceno, with a part of his division, met the revolutionary forces at Jabonsillo, where he arrested them, taking many prisoners.

The General-in-Chief of the rebel troops, Don Juan Jesus Gutierrez, was among the dead at Agua Dulce.

All the revolutionary army of Santander was destroyed at Oratorio, near Socorro, leaving the President of the State, Antonio Macia Pradillo, a prisoner in the hands of the Federal forces.

On the 4th of August a body of revolutionists, under Miguel Quijano, was attacked and completely defeated by Gen. Paris, taking 250 prisoners. Gen. Paris had entered into communications with Col. Cordova, in order to act against Popayan.

Santa Marta had been attacked by the revolutionary forces on the 24th of August, at 10 A. M., under Vega and Calzas. Col. Arboleda, Commander-in-Chief of the Atlantic forces, had been most enthusiastically received by the Federal army at Santa Marta, where he arrived on the 26th of August, at 10 A. M. On the 2d of September the rebels were compelled to abandon their positions at the point of the bayonet. The Federal troops had taken about 60 prisoners, one standard and several arms and ammunitions.

The official bulletin of the Revolutionary Government of Bolivar places all the successes on the other side:

Carthagena, Aug. 29, 1860.

That after the triumph of the Government of Santander in Agua Dulce, it obtained another at a place called Jaboncillo, in which General Deco, who served under the orders of Sr. Ospina, President of the Confederation, was wounded and taken prisoner. That the troops of the Government of Santander have the important Departments of Socorro, Guanentá and Velez, and were engaged in following up the dispersed remains of Sr. Ospina's army. The Jefe of the Department of Ocaña assures the Governor of the Province of Mompos, in an official note of the 15th of this month, that the armed people of Santander will nail their banners at the foot of the statue of Bolivar, in the capital of the Republic, on the square of the Constitution.

That La Plata, Jigante, and Nieva (State of Cundinamarca,) had pronounced in favor of the cause of the States. The forces of General Mosquera occupied the first named of these places, and those of General Paris and Senor Ospina having left the second named, they were attacked between Jigante and La Plata by General Lopez with the forces he had raised in Nieva, which resulted in the complete overthrow of the forces of General Paris, and in his being taken prisoner.

That between the Antioquian forces stationed at Manzales and those of Cauca, there had been a fight, in which the latter was victorious.

That previous to this the troops in Manzales had arrested a Senor Lince with papers for General Mosquera, amongst which was one from the merchants of Medellin, offering the neutrality of Antioquia, with manifestations and pretexts of adhesion.

Be assured from all these events that on the 31st of this month General Mosquera will be in the Capital of the Republic.

Another account says that the Government forces have been completely defeated at Santa Martha, and that the remnant of them is shut up in the Cathedral, and must have surrendered ere this.

From Cauca we have the following, which would seem to show that the revolutionists under Obando are getting the worst of it:

"By the schooner Florida, which arrived at Panama on the 11th, from Tumaco, communications have been received from Intendente Zarama announcing the occupation of Barbacoas on the 28th of August by the forces under his command, in combination with those that were in Tumaco under the orders of Capt. M. M. Gallo.

The attack of the forces under Capt. Gallo was made from three points. One party under Alferez Salomon, by the river Mira, and another detachment under Alferez Herrera, aided as far as Sala-Honda by Alferes Ortiz, by the Palia and Chagui. The latter met with little resistance. But the force under Alferez Salomon, consisting of 87 men, was opposed by a much larger body entrenched at the mouth of the riber Nulpe, with whom they had a severe engagement, in which the Government forces were victorious.

The rebels lost about 50 killed: the number of wounded was not ascertained. The Commander, Commandante Plaza and two officers were taken prisoners, and various arms and munitions of war were captured. The force of Alferez Salomon lost Sergeant Andrade and two soldiers; five were wounded, including Alferez Salomon, slightly.

The Florida brought as prisoners, Commandante Plaza, the rebel officer Faustino Herrera and nine others.

After the action at Mira, which took place on the 28th of August, Intendente Zarama, with 200 men attacked Barbacoas from the side of San Pablo, and the Governor, Senor Anibal Mosquera, dismayed by the defeat of his forces at Mira retreated by the Telembi towards Izcunde, without meeting opposition, taking with him the artillery and ordnance, leaving the town in the power of Zarama.

The communication between Barbacoas and Tumaco was open and order had been restored throughout the territory. The arms sent down by the Clio to Tumaco were taken to Pasto, and must be in the hands of the legitimate forces in that province.

Letters received by the Florida confirm the news of the successful defeats of Obando's forces, by those under the command of Colonel Jacinto Cordoba.

The Intendente of Panama, in forbidding the shipment of goods to Buenaventura, in Cauca, claimed that the port was blockaded. By the Florida we learn that this is not so, the little war-schooner Clio having been all the time at Tumaco, a hundred miles distant.

At Panama, and all through this State, the national authorities are seizing men and sending them to the wars. The Intendente here still continues to enforce his illegal proclamation against trade to ports in Cauca.

The Message of Gov. Obaldia, of Panama, has just been published. He blames very severely the leaders of the revolution in taking up arms, and recommends that, in case they succeed, the State of Panama secede and set up for itself under protection of England, France and the United States. He thinks the Intendente ought only to send vagrants and other useless persons against the revolutionists. He finds the finances of the State in bad condition, as usual, there being a deficiency of $43,000 out of $86,000.

In regard to Ambrose W. Thompson's contract with the old Provincial Legislature of Chiriqui, in this State, he says it has been forfeited by a failure to comply with its terms. As to Mr. Thompson's claim to the coal mines near the lagoon of Chiriqui, he says, among other reasons why his title is null, that, according to the "Real Cedula" of Spain of Aug. 24, 1792, the discoverer of coal mines has no title in them until he purchases the soil.

The Governor hopes that, when the votes are counted to-day for Governor, there will be no row in town—hinting at the frauds, I presume, which it is known were practiced at the polls at the election.

Orders were received at Aspinwall, by last mail, for the frigate Sabine to sail for Vera Cruz, and she will leave in a day or two. She will be relieved by the sloop-of-war Jamestown. The St. Lawrence, Capt. Prendergast, will be the flag-ship at Aspinwall. The steam war-ship Brooklyn arrived at Boca del Toro on the 30th August. On Sept. 1, the surveying expedition started across the country, to be joined on the Pacific side by another party from here, who will be taken down to Golfe Dolce in the steam-corvette Narragansett, expected here daily from Callao. Capt. Engle has the general command of the expedition, and remains on board the Brooklyn. Lieut. J. S. Morton, U. S. A., commands the corps of Engineers. Lieut. W. M. Jeffres has charge of the Hydrographical corps, and has surveyed the harbor of Boca del Toro. Golfe Dolce is to be surveyed. Dr. John Evans, Geologist, is now engaged in examining the coal deposits at Chiriqui Lagoon.

The sloop-of-war St. Marys is at Panama. The steam-corvette Narragansett was to leave Callao for Guayaquil and Panama soon. The flag-ship Lancaster left Paita Sept. 1, for Callao. The Wyoming was at Callao, waiting the action of Mr. Clay. (See our South American correspondence in another column.) The sloop-of-war Levant was at last accounts at Honolulu, and the Saranac at Mare Island, California. The Levant is cruising on the West Coast of Mexico.

The British war-ship Clio sent her boats close up to the shore yesterday, and exercised her men with firing small ordnance, muskets, rockets, &c., as a sort of warning to the Liberals that they must keep quiet to-day, when they are being counted out of their Governor by the Conservatives.

The Intendente of Panama is repairing the little American steamer Laura Frances, at Aspinwall, formerly of the San Juan River, in Nicaragua, with the intention of sending her to blockade Carthagena. The contractor agreed to beach and repair her, but did not agree to get her off again. There is now about four feet of daylight under her, and it is doubtful if she ever sees Carthagena.

The British steam-propeller Saladin, from England, via Santa Marta, is now a week overdue at Aspinwall; so it is supposed some accident has happened to her. We have been expecting later news from Gen. Herran by her. F. W. R.

CENTRAL AMERICA.

News from Costa Rica, Nicaragua and Honduras.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Panama, Saturday, Sept. 15, 1860.

The Panama Railroad Company's steamship Guatemala, Capt. Rathburn, arrived here on the 4th inst. from Central American ports. She brings 197 ceroons cochineal, 179 bales india-rubber, 2,696 hides, 23 bales deer skins, 37 bars lead, 6 cases balsam and $20,000 in specie. Her news is very meagre.

COSTA RICA.

This Republic, from which we have dates to Sept. 1, is at present quiet, although it is said Ex-President Mora is fast gaining strength with the people, the present President, Montealegre being a weak man, completely under the thumb of a few designing merchants. These few men are still endeavoring to annul the contract made by President Mora with the steamers of the Panama Railroad Company to carry the Costa Rican mails twice a month each way from Panama to Punta Arenas for $12,000 a year. The secret of their hostility is, that before this steam communication was opened, these few men could completely control the coffee market, as there was no rapid method of getting the crop to market, and growers, particularly the lesser ones, had to do their business through them, or sell to them at a low price. Now, a grower having a thousand, a hundred or ten bags, can send his coffee to Panama at any time that suits his convenience, realizing nearly double the former prices, thus depriving these capitalists of their big profits. It is not believed the people will allow their rulers to endanger their present steam communication by annulling this contract. The Railroad Company have a similar contract with Salvador and Guatemala.

The people do not believe that Walker will ever be strong enough again in Central America to trouble Costa Rica.

NICARAGUA AND SALVADOR.

Dates are to Aug. 28. Our Minister Resident, Alex. Dimitry, with Mr. John P. Heiss, a special agent of the Government at Washington, are in Nicaragua coaxing Fernando Chomorro, the acting President, (Martinez having temporarily retired on account of ill-health,) to call Congress together to ratify the Nicaragua Treaty as amended by the United States Senate.

Nicaragua is miserably poor—trade, commerce and industry being completely dead. As regards Walker, there is a complete apathy; and it is doubted, if he should once more invade the country, if the Government could either muster the men or means to oppose him, even with his handful of followers.

About once a fortnight a new Ministry is announced in Nicaragua. This time Señor H. Zepada has been made Minister of Justice, Foreign and Ecclesiastical Affairs; Señor N. Alvarez Minister of War; and Señor M. Cardenas Minister of State.

From Salvador and Guatemala there is nothing new, except that Gen. Barrios, President of the former, and President Cardera, President of the latter, avow their intention to assist Honduras against the fillibusters if necessary.

HONDURAS.

President Guardiola on the 21st August issued a proclamation against Walker, calling upon the people to arm in defence of the State, decreeing a forced loan of $9,000 per month until the invader is driven out, requiring foreigners entering or traveling through the country to have passports, ordering the people to destroy all provisions and supplies that might otherwise fall into the hands of Walker, and to make war against him in any manner that may best suit their means and convenience.

THE CHIRIQUI TRANSIT GRANT.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

San Jose de Casta Rica, Monday, Aug. 20, 1860.

The main subject of conversation in San Jose for the past four months has been the grant to Ambrose W. Thompson, through his attorney here, Thomas Francis Meagher, for making a railroad from Chiriqui to Boca del Toro. It is a little strange that this Government should give a grant to build a road over territory most of which is claimed and actually occupied by another power, especially as it is conceded that that power is amply able and fully intends to maintain her possession of the territory in question, and further, when it is known that the Congress of Bogota only last April, refused the same parties a grant to build a road over Chiriqui, it being a portion of the Isthmus of Panama, on the ground that such a grant would be in conflict with the charter of the Panama Railroad Company.

Mr. Meagher presented himself here with letters of indorsement from Secretary Cass, as also from President Buchanan, to Mr. Dimitry, United States Minister Resident, and Dimitry had special orders to do all he could to aid him in his scheme to get a grant for a railroad. He, Meagher, called upon the Minister of State, who, as a preliminary to business, asked him to produce the contract he claimed to have with the New-Granadian Government to run the road over its territory, upon which Mr. Meagher produced the old contract with the Province of Chiriqui, and which you know is null and void, from the fact that the contractors failed to fulfill, within the time stipulated on its face, the obligations they had incurred, and from various other reasons not necessary now to enumerate. But Mr. Meagher assured the Minister that any little difficulties in the way of the soundness of this contract could easily be arranged with New-Granada, and in fact were already in process of arrangement, and so that official made and signed a contract with him, the publication of which brought out a great opposition. Meagher, seeing this, modified it; but even this did not still the opposition. Congress being in session, Meagher, at the private meeting of the Committee to whom the contract was referred, produced certain letters, one of which, it is said, was from the President of the United States, "trusting he would meet with great facilities in the prosecution of his transit privilege." When the instrument was presented to Congress for its approval, that body trimmed and altered it so that its best friends would not have recognized it in its new shape, and thus it passed. After its passage, a number of our most influential and respectable citizens petitioned the President to withhold his signature to the contract, without which signature it could not of course become a law. The President did not pay much attention to the petition, but signed the contract, with modifications,—so the thing will have, under the ordinary course of law, to be again returned to Congress at its next session. These modifications were not the result of the petition above referred to, but grew out of documentary evidence furnished the Minister from a source in which he had confidence, proving that Ambrose W. Thompson's rights had all lapsed owing to non-fulfillment of the contract with New-Granada. So Mr. Meagher has gone home to New-York with the contract as amended, to return in five months with $100,000 as per contract.

You will see that the contract is for a railroad—(in contravention of the contract of the Panama Company)—nothing is said of any other kind of road. This and the $100,000 clause—the clause that the road shall not be disposed of to any foreign government—prohibition of the transportation of foreign troops and munitions of war over the road—will, or ought to stop the fools and rogues at Washington from entering into the speculation. Can you tell me, as I am a little curious to know, what rights Thompson wanted to sell to the United States for $300,000, and which Mr. Toucey agreed to buy, under the advice of Secretary Black, if he had no right except from New-Granada, and that of no validity at the time he placed it in the Washington Market?

It is true that Costa Rica did put forth a claim to a portion of the territory included in this grant; but Gen. Herran, you will recollect, made a treaty of limits with this Government, which was rejected by the Government of New-Granada. Now, then, by what right does Costa Rica grant a charter under such circumstances?

The modifications made by the President in Mr. Meagher's contract are:

Art. 25. No foreign troops or munitions of war to be transferred across the road. Any violation of this article forfeits the road to the Government.

Art. 26. Costa Rica will at once make out the titles to the land granted, and will transfer the same as soon as the road shall be opened to traffic.

Art. 27. Costa Rica will not allow any denouncements of land to be made in the vicinity of the projected road for the space of two years.

Art. 28. As soon as the Road is finished, an inventory shall be made of all the property belonging to the Company, and the same shall be done every year to show the improvements.

Art. 29. No transfer of any portion of the grant can be made to any foreign Power, without its entire forfeiture.

Art. 30. At the end of 80 years, the road and all its equipments, etc., shall be the property of Costa Rica.

Art. 31. The sum of $100,000 shall be deposited within six months (from 13th July, 1860,) to be forfeited should not a railroad be made within the stipulated time of six years. DESENGANO.

NICARAGUA.

THE AMERICAN MINISTER—AN ULTIMATUM—WALKER AND HIS CHANCES.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

Leon, Nicaragua, Wednesday, Aug. 29, 1860.

The announcement of the arrival of the American Minister in this town a few days ago, for the moment was the occasion of considerable speculation. Mr. Dimitry, it seems, is determined, at this time, to have a distinct understanding with Nicaragua in regard to all the unsettled questions which have been so long in controversy between this Republic and the Government of the United States. Among other matters, he will immediately insist upon a Convention to settle the claims of American citizens. This will be resisted on the part of Nicarauga, and I have my doubts whether those in power here at present will ever consent to such a Convention, until the United States uses shell and shot instead of pen and paper diplomacy. The prominent officials of this Government are bitterly hostile to us; they compose the old "Chimeriste" or "servile faction," and, in fact, were never our friends. Since Walker invaded this country they have hated us more bitterly than ever, and, if they dared to do so, they would expel every American from the country in thirty days.

Speaking of Walker, I may state that a courier arrived here three days ago from Honduras, with a proclamation from Guardiola, the President of the Republic, calling upon the people to resist the invasion of Walker, who had landed at Truxillo on the 8th of August with a considerable number of men, and had taken possession of the fortifications of that place. It is stated that the fillibuster chief has under him 1,000 Americans, and that he is well supplied with arms, ammunitions and provisions. It is also asserted that he has been joined by a number of Hondurans and negroes, from the Ruatan Islands. The number of Americans said to be with him are no doubt greatly exaggerated. The same may be said in regard to his other adherents. However, if Walker has one thousand good men with him he will take possession of this country without much difficulty. If he has even six or seven hundred men landed at Truxillo, well supplied with arms and ammunition, the chances of success will be greatly in his favor. His march through Honduras, from Truxillo, can be accomplished without much difficulty even at this season of the year. There are good roads leading from the port of Truxillo to the highlands of Olancho. This district is not only the most healthy, but it is truly the richest portion of Honduras. It has a climate where a white man can live as well as in New-England. There Walker can procure everything for the subsistence of his men that he may require, and his march from Truxillo to the borders of Nicaragua ought not to occupy more than ten or twelve days. The first point he will occupy on the borders of Nicaragua, I presume, will be Ocatel; and from thence he will have an easy march to Leon via Chinendega. The news of Walker's landing in Honduras created but little excitement here. I was astonished to see the great mass of the people so indifferent in regard to the prospect of his appearance among them once more, and I shall not be at all surprised, in case Walker is successful in getting into this section of Nicaragua, if a large majority of them join his standard. Some of the prominent men in Chinendega and Leon are already making arrangements to leave the country, preparatory to Walker's arrival. They do not think that Nicaragua can successfully resist another invasion by him. This they believe from the fact that "Costa Rica" and the other Central American States, will not again come to the rescue. Costa Rica will not, it is certain, for during the last war that State lost 14,000 men in battle and by disease, brought about by exposure, &c., &c. The Costa Ricans admit that it will be years before she will recover from the evil effects resulting from the part they took in behalf of Nicaragua and against the fillibusters. The same may be said in regard to Gautamala, San Salvador and Honduras. Besides, all these States are at present at variance with Nicaragua; they regard her as the "black sheep of the flock so that no aid from any of these States can be expected. My own impression is, that if Walker has not, at his landing at Truxillo, gotten on shore all the men and munitions he may require to successfully invade Nicaragua, his expedition will prove another failure. If he expects to wait reinforcements, he will be disappointed, as the English and American vessels of war will cut off all supplies. If he has landed with his seven hundred Americans, all supplied with arms and ammunition, the chances of success are in his favor; otherwise, they are greatly against him. ,.

SOUTH AMERICA.

Expected Battle Between Flores and Franco in Ecuador—An American Consul's Exequatur Revoked—Claims of American Citizens Against Peru—United States War Vessels on the Coast—Narrow Escape of Belzu in Bolivia—Loss of an American Ship.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Panama, Saturday, Sept. 15, 1860.

The British Mail steamship Callao arrived at this port on the 6th, having left Valparaiso on the 18th of August, Callao on the 28th, and Paita on Sept. 1. She also brings dates from Cobija, Bolivia, to the 22d of August. The Callao had $286,344 in specie for Europe.

ECUADOR.

The war in Ecuador of the different factions seems drawing toward a close. Gen. Flores, on the 20th of August, was in the immediate vicinity of Guayaquil, where a battle must ere this have taken place between his forces and those of Gen. Franco, with the probable defeat of the latter. How Peru, or rather Castilla, will relish the defeat of his protegé, and the consequent failure of his Ecuadorian policy, remains to be seen.

Gen. Franco has revoked the exequatur of the United States Consul, Señor Cassanova, at Guayaquil, on account of his interference in things political that did not concern him. Señor C. is a young man, a Cuban by birth, but a naturalized American—totally unfit to represent United States commerce abroad; but it would not be a very easy matter to find any capable man to fill his place, at the unearthly salary of $700 a year. Mr. Cassanova has gone to Callao.

In the last engagement between the advanced forces of Flores and Franco, an account of which you have already published, Flores captured from his enemy 200 horses, three small field-pieces, and about 15,000 quintals of salt.

PERU.

Mr. Buchanan's efforts to settle the American claims against Peru are not likely to be crowned with more success than his efforts in the same direction in other quarters have been. It is generally understood that our Minister, in July last, was instructed to demand a settlement of the damages for the seizure of the Georgiana and Lizzie Thompson within four days, in default of which he was to suspend diplomatic relations, and to agree to an arbitration in the case of the whaleship William Lee, and in the matter of the other two claims for the imprisonment and cruelties inflicted upon Mr. Sartori, and the destruction of the property of Dr. Charles Eston by Government troops. When these instructions reached Mr. Clay, (his "peremptory demand" for a settlement three months previously having failed,) the Peruvian Secretary of Relations had just resigned; so Mr. C. had to wait some time for the appointment of a new one on whom to make the demand. Then, before the new Secretary was fairly installed, somebody shot at and severely wounded President Castilla, and Mr. Clay has to wait till he recovers, as the Secretary dare not move without his master's consent. But as the President is said to have so far regained his strength as to "ride out in his carriage on the Alameda, guarded by fifty horsemen," it is fair to presume our Minister will not much longer postpone his demand. The result, however, cannot be doubtful. Castilla will never pay a dollar for the Georgiana and Lizzie Thompson until compelled by force to do so. He is willing to refer the matter to the arbitrament of a foreign Power—but as no foreign Power would be likely to admit the doctrine that a small revolutionary party occupying but one or two ports of a country has a right to bind the Government to its contracts, the United States Government will not accede to that proposition. In the meantime an American agent passed through Panama the other day for Peru, and it is rumored he took out instructions to Mr. Clay modifying his previous ones—which would not be surprising, considering the vacillating temper of Mr. Buchanan, and especially in view of the wet blanket application of Mr. Cave Johnson in the matter of the Paraguan claims of Mr. Hopkins. Had Mr. Clay been properly supported by the United States Executive at the outset, in these claims, they would have been paid long ago—but now they must wait the more energetic action of a new Administration.

Gen. Castilla's Congress is still in session at Lima, engaged in discussing stupid propositions to still further increase the power of the priests and military, and in registering the decrees of the Dictator. The bill requiring the President to submit all future guano contracts to Congress for its approval, has of course been rejected. There are said to be many bidders for the British contracts, but as the Peruvian Government owes six or eight millions of dollars to Daniel Gibb & Co. and the other contractors, for advances made, it is not probable any changes will be made.

Among the projects to oppress the people, one by the Bishop of Arequipa, President of the Assembly, has been introduced. The bill provides that the Roman Catholic religion shall be the established religion of the nation—all its affairs, secular as well as spiritual, to be regulated by a special concordat with His Holiness Pio Nono, and all other worship is prohibited. The clergy and military to be exempt from prosecutions of every description before civil courts, they to have courts of their own.

The United States steam-corvette Narragansett was at Callao, Aug. 28, to sail for Guayaquil and Panama in a few days. The Wyoming is still waiting the movements of Mr. Clay, at Callao. The flag-ship Lancaster arrived at Paita, Sept. 1, and sailed same day for Callao.

The Captain of the Chilian brig Tubal Cain has made an affidavit that on his voyage from Valparaiso to Arica, in latitude 31° 40′ south, longitude 73° 25′ west, he fell in with an island extending north and south about 15 miles, and from 200 to 250 feet in height; that the island appears to have been recently thrown up, and is of a whitish appearance; that the water all about the island was very much discolored. The Captain sighted the island early in the morning, and was in sight of it until night. The Captain is said to be a sober man; nevertheless, his story does not gain much credit.

The American steamer Peruano, which was supposed to be lost, has arrived at Callao, and commenced her coasting trips on the 9th.

Exchange on England is 42d.; guano freights to England, £3; to the United States, $15.

BOLIVIA.

I extract the following, dated Cobija, Aug. 22, from a private letter I have just received from a well-informed source:

"In spite of the solemn promise made by Expendent Gen. Belzu, not to interfere with the politics of Bolivia, he has proved traitor to all noble instincts. In the pay and under the patronage of Castilla, of Peru, he has resolved to become the Franco of Bolivia. Sailing from Valparaiso, he arrived, on the 4th instant, at Tacna, where his reception was of the most stormy character. He would have fallen a prey to the fury of the people had not the military interfered in his favor. Not having received the promised aid from Castilla, and the temper of the people having so disappointed his hopes he was obliged to leave Tacna for Puno, accompanied by a guard of 70 men. He avows his intention to return to revolutionize the country, but the people have prepared for him a scaffold instead of laurels. The Government of Linares has the confidence of the people, and is prepared to maintain the public tranquillity."

CHILI.

The American ship Chatsworth, Capt. Horn, of Boston, of 1,150 tons register, went ashore in a gale, on the 13th of July last, off the coast of Chili, 150 miles south of Valparaiso, and broke to pieces. The officers and crew, with the exception of one man—James Davis, of England—saved themselves by running a line to the shore, which was made fast to a rock. Nothing was saved except the log and a few articles of clothing. The first officer and crew were taken charge of by the United States Consul at Valparaiso, and the Captain goes home on the Ariel to-day.

The heavy rains and severe northers continued, through the whole preceding fortnight at Valparaiso, but no additional damage of consequence had occurred to the shipping. A native boat sent by the authorities to the relief of a British ship in the harbor, had capsized, drowning four men. The Mercurio contains a list of 31 vessels from Europe, which entered the harbor of Valparaiso on the 4th and 5th of August, all laden with valuable cargoes for that port.

The Congress at Santiago is still in session, discussing the reforms proposed in the law of elections, and action upon which was postponed from the last session.

The extradition treaty between France and Chili, which has been opposed by the Executives of both Governments, has just been published. It contemplates the delivering up to either Power, by the other, of persons accused of all crimes in which the perpetrators are liable to corporis afflictina, or degrading punishment, by the laws of their own country, except political crimes and desertions.

A bill before Congress, which has already passed the Senate, provides that Chilian Consuls shall render assistance and pecuniary aid to invalids and distressed Chilians in extreme cases.

A dangerous disease of the throat has appeared at Santiago, with great virulence, supposed to be the effect of some atmospherical derangement. The most healthy and robust are attacked without the slightest premonition.

The Minister of Marine reports that the Chilian navy consists of four steamers and two sailing craft, with a total of 58 guns, manned by 489 men and 38 officers. The navy, in 1859, cost the Government $520,000. The merchant marine consists of 266 vessels, with an aggregate tonnage of 60,434. Of these 189, or 38,137 tons, are employed in the coasting trade; 43, or 11,830 tons, are employed in the Pacific and Western coast of America, as far as California and Puget Sound; 7 vessels, or 1,949 tons, in Asia, Australia and Polynesia; 4 vessels, or 1,382 tons, on the east coast of South America, Antilles and the United States; 2, or 693 tons, in Europe; 23 vessels, or 6,446 tons in port.

A new insurance company, with a capital of $70,000, has been organized in Valparaiso.

The Supreme Court of Chili, in the case of the Englishman Brown, who bequeathed $60,000 to the city of Valparaiso in case the city would give the same sum for the establishment of a foundling hospital, and which bequest was contested by his daughter, has decided against the daughter so far as regards Mr. Brown's right to give away his personal property—but admit that she has a right to her portion of the real estate, which gives her $40,000.

The Indian country of Arauca remains quiet.

Notwithstanding that the profits of newspaper publishing have declined largely in Chili the past year, a new journal, the Independente, is announced. A paper manufactory is also about to commence operations.

A severe gale at Sotilla, 40 miles south of Talcahuano, on the 29th July, destroyed the mole at that place, which cost $50,000, and two Chilian vessels. The crew of one, a bark, consisting of 13 persons, were all lost.

The fortnight which closed on the 18th August had been a good one for business in Valparaiso. Several vessels are loading with flour for Australia, Europe, and Peru from the Southern ports, which had had the effect to advance the price of the article. Southern brands bring $3 06 to $3 12 per quintal, six months' credit. Barley, $3 50 to $3 56 per fanega. California, which is inferior, brings a trifle less. Carolina rice—700 quintals changed hands at $7 50 per quintal.

In Lumber, 600,000 feet from the United States, and 200,000 feet from Mexico, good assortment, brought about $55 on board. Copper in bars nominal at $20. Freights—American bark Anna Oragenten takes ores from Flamenco to Antwerp at £3 10s.; from one or more coast ports to Liverpool or Cork, £2 10s.@£3. Exchange on London, 60 to 90 days, 43@43½ ₩ dollar; on the United States, 90 days, 15 ₩ cent. premium.

CALIFORNIA.

Senator Gwin Disgusted with Politics and Craves Retirement—Firemen's Riot—New Industrial Resources—Agricultural Fairs—State Prison Break—Rough Work at Washoe—Miscellaneous.

From Our Own Correspondent.

San Francisco, Saturday, Sept. 1, 1860.

The last Pony Express brought the rumor, and the denial of it, that Breckinridge had withdrawn. It scarcely produced a ripple in political circles, for nobody believed the rumor true.

Senator Gwin has spoken. At Stockton, on the 29th, the venerable "Daily Mail Killer," gave account of his stewardship. His reception was without enthusiasm. The town was full of strangers, and a Breckinridge ratification meeting being called, some 350 or 400 persons turned out to hear Gwin's apology. He let general politics slide, and came early down to the catalogue of his own misdeeds. He charged the failure of every measure that interests California to the delay of the Republicans in organizing the House. Hale's overland Mail Bill he opposed, because it was I. C. Wood's project—and Sherman killed the amendments to the General Postal Law, that would have given us all we wanted. The quarrel with the President was all imaginary. When he went into the Senate eleven years ago we had but twelve mails per annum; he had given us three hundred and twenty mail departures from the East in a year, and two hundred and ninety-six from California eastward, or, exclusively of Sundays, more than a mail daily now. The modest old gentleman did not directly claim that he built California, but all the mail facilities we to-day enjoy he gave us. The papers were down on him because they hated the Democratic Party, and because there were aspirants who wanted his place. "Fellow-citizens," said he, "I speak truly when I say I am tired of this species of politics. I am wearied with abuse and misrepresentation. Like the man who ate the crow, I say if it is necessary I can stand it; but I assure you I've no hankering after this sort of thing. If California goes for Breckinridge, I will be content. As for my reëlection, if the people want my services they will have to come after me. If I am reëlected, it must be without effort on my part." And after this touching remark the people laughed.

He considered Lime Point. He was disgusted with the pitiful slanders about him on this score. He wanted the Point purchased, at as cheap a price as possible, but at any price we must have it—and the fortifications should be commenced at once. He defended his amendment to the Homestead Bill. For the Pacific Railroad he had never ceased to labor, but Douglas and Seward wanted it saved for the Presidential campaign. The Republican House was mainly responsible for its postponement. Then he promised that at the next session of Congress the measure should be passed, when, too, Congress will pass, so he prophecied, the Inter-Oceanic Telegraph bill, and the project for establishing a line of steamships between San Francisco and China and Japan.

It was a hot night, but the meeting was cooler at the end than even at the beginning.

At a Democratic rally in Petaluma recently it was resolved "That the return of Gwin to California has cast a gloom upon the body-politic, which his immediate absence can alone remove." I suspect, notwithstanding the Senator's statement, that if the people want his services they will have to come after him—that he is doing what little a mortal may, at the Primaries, to gratify the Petaluma Democrats by arranging for a speedy return for six years more to Washington.

On Tuesday evening last there was a pretty serious row among our firemen,—a collision in the street between companies, which led to a good deal of fighting, but, as they fought fair and took no worse tools than their trumpets and spanners, did not cause much effusion of blood. The Fire Department, so long as it behaves itself, is an entirely independent body. It is responsible to no one while the peace is not broken, and all that the City authorities can do is to cut off the supplies. The present worthy Chief Engineer—the foremost man, by the way, of the Dashaways—was a member originally of Howard Company No. 3. The Howards and Monumentals fraternize, and are generally of the vigilante stamp. The Volunteers No. 7 and the Knickerbockers embrace large numbers of the old Law and Order men. On Tuesday night, No. 3 and No. 7 were brought in contact, by being suddenly ordered to halt, on discovering that a fire-alarm was false. No. 3's hose-cart was behind No. 7, and attempted to pass it to join its engine, but in so doing there was some crowding. A little leisure being afforded by the sudden halt, a member of No. 3 advanced toward No. 7 to get an explanation. No. 7's acting foreman raised his trumpet to be ready, and No. 3 pitched in, for fear of an assault. The squabbling became pretty general forthwith. They pummeled each other as they slowly worked down Dupont-street, from Pacific to Washington. Chief Whitney rushed in to arrest a disorderly man, and was surrounded. He had a narrow escape of some bad blows, but came out with a whole skin and some prisoners. Next day, and every day since, Judge Coon has been busy meting out justice to the rioters. The foreman of No. 5, (Knickerbocker,) was fined $40 for knocking down a special policeman who belonged to No. 3. An ex-foreman of No. 5 was fined $40 for helping in the same job. A zealous young No. 5 was fined $50 for taking a cobble-stone to Chief Whitney. Another No. 5 was fined $60 for thumping a No. 3 over the head with a trumpet. One of No. 3 got mulcted in $40 for not waiting to be hit before he struck, and two others got $40 each for their share in the fracas. The fines do not seem particularly steep, but it is thought that they will do the business, and the influential firemen are terribly ashamed of the whole affair. It is the first brush the companies have had for years, which is all the more curious that for a year, and until last Spring, there were two claimants for the chief-engineership, and the body was essentially under a double and divided head.

The County Fairs, those farmers' colleges, are just opening. The San Joaquin Agricultural Society's Show has been the attraction this week at Stockton. Correspondents from the grounds call special attention to the unusual quantities of dried fruit, to fine specimens of the American saffron, to the fat castor beans and the soft-shelled almonds, with which the San Joaquin valley promises very soon to supply the market abundantly. Tanned leather, of which almost our entire supply has hitherto been imported, constituted an important feature of the native manufactures.

There are now four tanneries in active operation in the neighborhood of Santa Cruz, which county aspires to the lead in developing this branch of industry. The bark used is that of the California or Chestnut Oak, with which the mountains abound. The business must be profitable, for there is nothing like leather here. A Californian loves to cover his horse half over with a broad-flapped saddle, every inch of which is ornamented, and you may see more sole-leather galloping through Montgomery-street in a day than Broadway shows in a week.

The Sonowa County Fair at Petaluma has gloried more in its toothsome vegetables and magnificent fruit. Little valleys in this county, whose names had never before been heard, have poured in their grain of prodigious kernel and superb quality, and the esculent roots were wheeled in daily of such monstrous size that you turned involuntarily to see whether the men that raised and fed on them were not giants. But the most cheering sight at Petaluma was to see the wives and children of the farmers, convincing the observer that the bachelor era of the State has gone forever. When the contributors to the fruit exhibition met for a talk, their topic, by common consent, was the "curled leaf" of the peach. From every quarter of the State there has been complaint of this Eastern affection of the peach tree. The Superintendent of Gen. Vallejo's ranch said that of more than forty varieties cultivated by him, only about ten or a dozen escaped the "curl." This year he had nine varieties of seedlings in bearing; these all did well, and showed no curl. The "Early Crawfords" seemed to be the favorite of all the speakers in this respect; trees eight and ten years old had never suffered. But the cause of the curl, and its remedy, no one professed to know.

Bees are very popular throughout the State. They thrive admirably, and are in demand far beyond the supply. Their worst enemies are thieves and the "foul brood." At a late meeting of the Apiarian Society, at Sacramento, it was resolved that a hive containing not less than 2,000 cubic inches in the clear, aside from surplus honey, well filled with bees, comb and honey, should command a retail price of $80, and at wholesale 10 per cent. less; and that any person who knowingly should sell as healthy a hive of bees affected with foul brood, and who should engage in trapping bees, to the loss of others, should be regarded as no better than a common thief.

The Petaluma mechanics showed some pretty specimens of their handiwork at the Fair—among the rest, some very dainty buggies and stout wagons. All the stock, however, was imported, our coast furnishing no timber that suits for the purpose.

All signs indicate that capital is finding promising fields for investment in the rich valleys and by the river sides of California. The gold yield never was larger, though up to the 16th of this month the export of treasure had fallen $4,096,152 behind that of 1859. It is calculated that during 1860 $6,000,000 less of gold will be exported than during any preceding year since 1850. Our own farmers and manufacturers are pocketing the cash that hitherto went across the Isthmus to New-York. Money is plenty, and soon must be cheaper; and when, instead of 24 or 30 per cent. a year, it can be had at 12 and 18, the railroad era will open. It is a marvel that our internal improvements, outside of the mining regions, are as many as they are. Think of paying thirty dollars a year for the use of a hundred, to plank or rail a road, to erect a factory or stock a farm! Every dollar that the tri-monthly export treasure-list is decreased, comforts the Californian, for nothing will convice him that the gold-crop is not all the while increasing, and all that our riffle-boxes hold back from the steamers goes to build up the State.

It is astonishing how our State's Prison convicts abhor their quiet home. Thirty-two of them, on Tuesday last, who were employed in leveling a hill near the prison, rose upon their guards, seized their pistols, and made a break for the boats. The guards recaptured their fire-arms, however, and blazed away right and left, severely wounding several, and speedily bringing the rest to terms and their cells again.

We are having it deliciously cool and comfortable, but all around us it is powerfully hot. In Sonora they can scarcely ice their thermometers down to less than 90° Farenheit; and the change is so great when the country people come to town that they lay on overcoats after 2 o'clock P. M.

Good news comes down from Washoe every mail—and still society there is a little rough and gnarly yet. Last Monday evening five Irishmen, who had been invited to pay their rent or clear out of the premises they occupied, went to their landlord's house and demanded admittance. Mr. Eder, their landlord, came to the door, but declined to go further, seeing they were armed. Mrs. Eder, hearing how things stood, threw herself between her husband and the ruffians, and told them that if they fired they must shoot her. One of their number meanwhile had gone around the house and entered it by the kitchen door. The four fired, shooting Mrs. Eder—probably inflicting a fatal wound—hitting Mr. Eder and Mr. Hill, and killing by mistake their own man, Hughes. The four having completed their work fled, and have not since been heard of.

The story is confirmed of seven white men being burned to death by the Indians of the Washoe region. Norman H. Canfield, who came to California in 1849, from Cambridge, Washington County, N. Y., left with a party about the 4th of May to visit Winnemucca's Camp on Pyramid Lake, seeking permission to prospect for silver in the vicinity. To disarm Indian suspicions, they took no arms but a single revolver. Nothing was heard of them afterwards, until some of the regulars stationed about the lake after the "war" was ended, found their charred remains among the cottonwood to which they had been bound with rawhides and log-chains until most of the flesh had been burned from their bones.

On the 30th of December, 1848, some eighteen naval officers, belonging to two Government vessels then lying in the harbor of San Francisco, agreed to pay the $15 fees, and each take out a grant for a hundred-vara lot about the sand-hills of Yerba Buena. They went up to Alcalde Leavenworth, paid the trifling fees, and so became possessed of tracts which now are worth a snug fortune. Our old Alcaldes were exceedingly careless in their grants, and the receivers of the grants, doubting whether the papers they received would be worth the ink they were written in, were no less so. One of the eighteen who, on that 30th of December, bailed fortune, was Joseph F. Green. His grant was made out to him by his initials, and the F., to tell the truth, looks more like an L. than an F. This fact Alfred A. Green lately has discovered, and the consequence is a suit

THE UNITED STATES FAIR.

A Great Crowd—Morgan and Black-Hawk Stallions—Sewing Machines—Fruits and Flowers—Sheep and Swine.

From Our Own Correspondent.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Tuesday, Sept. 18, 1860.

These monster agricultural shows may be compared to the great net which, being set at the right time and place, draws into its meshes a multitude of fish, and sometimes the draught is miraculous indeed. Any one who follows and watches the course of the popular agricultural society sees it going through all degrees of fisherman's luck, as the bait it offers is more or less attractive, the location well or ill-chosen, and the local coöperation more or less hearty. If this eighth annual exhibition proves a success, as it now seems likely to do, it will be its greatest triumph, for what with its complications in early management and hostility aroused between the local officers and citizens, it seemed destined to come to grief from the very start. The weather alone has been entirely favorable; in truth, it is glorious, a mixture of the balmy softness of May and the refreshing coolness of October; and there never was a fair held in this country under more favorable meteorological auspices.

The first impression which one gets from the vast expanse of the inclosed grounds, is one of disappointment in the display; but on patient scrutiny of details, the conviction becomes more and more established that there is a great number of valuable inventions and splendid animals. The general observer might plod wearily through the long avenues of plows, mowing and reaping machines, seed-drills, corn grinding mills, manufactured goods, wagons, harrows, stoves, fruits of all kinds, flowers, and the ranges of stalls filled with animals—without seeing what good things there are, or why they are good. But those whose eyes are opened to the merits of these several specialties, are not long in seeing a great many things worthy of attention—so many, indeed, that I cannot trespass on your space so far as to place them in catalogue.

To-day there was a vast crowd upon the grounds. It filled all the alleys in the tents and "halls," thronged a dozen deep around the water faucets, obstructed the movements of the machinery-tenders, and packed the seats of the grand stand. Between four and five thousand dollars were taken during the day—a sum which, no doubt, represented over 20,000 visitors. This, I am told, is not more than half as many as were admitted on one day last year, but it is a great number of people to get together. The greatest excitement of the day, and in fact of the whole fair thus far, was the competition of Morgan and Black Hawk, stallions, for the prize of $500. The jury were confined to examine only those horses who could show a direct line from the original Justin Morgan or HILL'S Black Hawk. When it is recollected that all stallions which come within this ruling are held at high prices if they are even passably decent, it will easily be seen that in the "ring" of thirteen which competed to-day a comfortable fortune was represented. And here let me remark for the benefit of horse-owners who propose exhibiting at fairs, that appearances go a great way with committees. The time given for examination is generally brief—committeemen are appointed who are not good judges of horseflesh, and little defects, sometimes great ones, are apt to be overlooked in the hurry of examination. It is of the first importance, then, to have your horse in fine condition, his coat sleek and glossy, his feet nicely shod and washed, fetlocks neatly trimmed, mane combed and plaited so as to make it wavy, and nostrils, ears and mouth perfectly clean. The sulky, or whatever vehicle he is harnessed to, should be newly painted and well varnished and clean, the driver should be neatly dressed, the harness well appointed throughout, and even the blankets and whip of the best. Then, if your man is a good driver—and no decent horse should be trusted to any other—you have every advantage in show over your slovenly competitors, for you draw the plaudits of the crowd, which goes a great way towards strengthening the favorable first impressions of the judges. A case, eminently in point, was presented to-day. There were thirteen stallions entered for the premium, and a dense crowd surrounded the ring in which they were to be examined, and hundreds were packed together in the grand-stand which overlooked the scene. Eleven of the thirteen horses had been driven within the "roped arena," and been received with more or less favor, when the crowd about the entrance gave way, and Stockbridge Chief was driven into the ring, closely followed by his son, Rattler, who is a very picture of the sire in everything but tread and length of body. The appointments of the horses and wagons were perfect, and their condition all that care and skill could make them. Stockbridge is a favorite wherever he goes, and the repeated awards of juries have confirmed the popular verdict. Last year, in a ring of twenty-seven of the best horses of the country, he took the St. Louis grand prize of $1,000, and, although thirteen years old, he looks as blooming and steps as firm as a colt. GEORGE CREIN, one of his owners, drove him in splendid style into the ring, and as the horse dashed into view and skimmed around the little circle as gracefully as a swallow, he was greeted with loud applause and cheers. He got the prize—that was anticipated from the start,—but even if he had not been so fine a horse and so famous a prize-taker, the bloom of his coat, his splendid physical condition, the cunning skill of his driver, and the quality of his harness and wagon, would have gone far toward obtaining the prize. These hints should not be meant for horse-men, for they know, or should know, their importance; but although intended particularly for farmers who contemplate exhibiting their horses, the jockeys and stablemen themselves might sometimes derive profit from a study of them, if we may judge by what we see at fairs. The same rules, so far as they are applicable, should be observed with stock. Put before a jury a bull or cow, dirty, uncombed, with ragged looking hoofs and horns, and let the animal be ever so good, it runs great risk of losing the prize, or in any event, of getting an inferior award.

The sewing-machine agents have adopted a good plan at this Fair. There were ten of them in all, so they subscribed $10 apiece, and had a plain octagon-shaped open shed erected for their sole use and benefit. Thus, for a trifling sum, they got a most excellent place of exhibition, and were not molested by the clamor of wordy exhibitors of other machines or articles. If the popularity of this now indispensable household article may be estimated by the crowds which have thronged the octagon temple all through the Fair, it must be great indeed.

The show of fruits and flowers is large and good. Unusually large and excellent displays of pears and apples are to be seen, and especially the latter are worthy of note. All over the country the apple crop of the present year is very heavy, and the display of Ohio apples here is ample evidence of the results which the Buckeye State must reap. One man, named SCHNEIKE, shows a collection which embraces twenty-seven varieties of grapes, among which, to my taste, the Delaware is by far the best. The Catawba, whose virtues have been celebrated by the graceful muse of LONGFELLOW, is a grape whose first taste is excellent, and juice grateful to the palate; but after the first taste, if not well ripened, it is somewhat astringent. The Catawba makes an excellent wine, no doubt, but it is a wine eminently characterized by a foxy flavor derived from the wild grape, its ancestor. The Delaware, on the contrary, although of smaller size, has its berries compactly arranged, the flesh is tender, the juice is sweet, vinous, and sprightly, and to the very centre of the berry the quality holds good. As to the quality of the wine there can scarcely be more than one opinion. Let any man take samples of wine from a dozen of our native grapes, and taste, as I did to-day, in perfect ignorance of their source and his verdict must accord with mine, that for first taste and second taste, "bouquet," and quality the Delaware is superior to them all. SCHNEIKE, a Swiss, who is one of the largest vignerons about this City, pronounces it better than any foreign or native grape with which he is acquainted.

The flowers are arranged after a most excellent, because perfectly natural fashion, in the great tent. Instead of being placed on shelves or tables where one must see the pots, and bare stems below the foliage, they are placed on the ground, the cut flowers in damp sand and laid off into beds, neatly edged with moss, and the pots set on the green grass in tasteful groups. Thus the observer looks down upon the floral gems as he does when walking in his garden, and the effect of the whole collection is harmonious and pleasant.

There is a large collection of sheep and swine. Among the latter are to be seen fine specimens of the various English breeds, and of the "Chester County," a white breed of pigs for which Pennsylvania has long been famous. There are a number of beautiful Cashmere goats, from herds in Georgia, Ohio and Kentucky. The hair of these graceful animals is long, white, silken and wavy, in texture like the finest baby's hair, or floss silk. It is woven into the famous Cashmere shawls which come from India, and is worth about eight dollars per pound to the manufacturer. The crosses on the common goat produce a hair which has nearly the gloss of the thoroughbred, but not quite its fine texture. This quality is made into alpaccas, "mohair-lustres," and other dress goods of that class. It is claimed by Dr. RICHARD PETERS, of Atlanta, Ga., and other American fanciers of these goats, that are very hardy and docile, protect themselves from dogs, and will subsist on the rough mountain herbage which is now put to no use whatever. Mr. PETERS' man tells me that he has now about five hundred of the grades and pure-bloods, and has sold a pair of the latter recently for $[illegible]00. Among the curiosities of the sheep show are specimens of long-wooled, long-legged, gaunt looking [illegible] from Japan, which may be possessed of rare merit, but provoke much merriment from the farmers whose eyes are untutored to observe the qualities which are concealed under their shaggy fleeces.

THE DE GROOT SWINDLE.

The Papers Abstracted from the Treasury Department—Position of the Attorney-General—Particulars of the Award, &c.

From Our Own Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Sept. 18, 1860.

It is currently stated, by those who claim to know most about the De Groot case, that the facts detailed in my last letter were not sent to the War Department from the Treasury, where they were on file. These facts are fully set forth in exhibit C, which accompanied the original application. I derived them not from that document, however, but from the originals. I have already stated that DE GROOT was arrested on the affidavit of STRONG, that he had stolen papers from the Treasury Department. This fact may be relied on as true, notwithstanding the nonrecollection of Justice DONN, whether it was that particular Department or some other, probably the Capitol. I have it from two disinterested witnesses, that the warrant for the arrest of DE GROOT, specified the Treasury as the Department from which the papers were abstracted. As the Departments seem indisposed to investigate this matter, it may be well for Mr. COVODE to make a note of it; and it is not at all unlikely that he will be able to throw light upon the subject next winter, through the instrumentality of an Investigating Committee. It will also be a question of interest upon which the public seeks information, whether one of the two papers alleged to have been stolen, was this identical exhibit C. This paper proves clearly that DE GROOT had been dismissed by MECHLIN and ALEXANDER for his non-fulfillment of the conditions of the contract with the Government, to which they were the sureties. It also shows that the sureties were compelled to take this course by the complaints of Capt. MEIGS, given in my last, as well as by a regard to their own interests, which were sustaining material damage by the laches of DE GROOT, in several respects, and especially in his non-payment to them of five per cent. of his gross receipts from the Government, which was stipulated by him in lieu of security. This exhibit, which accompanies the application to the Secretary of the Treasury for a settlement under the joint resolution of Congress of March 3, 1857, is most material, if not essential, to a thorough understanding of the case. It not only contains the facts above detailed, but announces the annulment of the sub-contract with DE GROOT, and recites at length the sub-contract with KELLOGG. If this important paper was stolen from the files of the Treasury Department, or in any other way, was withheld from the Secretary of War during his first investigation, the fact should be known, as it would in some degree relieve the odium which attaches to the award made by him. But that paper has since been brought to the attention of the President, and by him referred to the Secretary of War, and if he persists in his first award he cannot screen himself from public indignation on the plea of ignorance of the facts. The same remarks will apply to the Attorney-General. I sympathize with him in the mental perplexity and embarrassment under which he is said to be laboring, and wish him a speedy shrift.

DE GROOT received under the award made by the Secretary of the Treasury, in 1858, between $7,000 and $8,000. The total award to the four claimants, MECHLIN, ALEXANDER, DE GROOT and KELLOGG, was $29,534 19. So that DE GROOT's share, allowed him by an interested referee, amounted to about one-fourth the whole sum allowed by Mr. COBB, for the losses and damages sustained by all the parties. DE GROOT is dissatisfied, applies again to Congress, through a powerful lobby combination, and gets another joint resolution through, almost identical in language with the first, but referring the settlement of the question to the Secretary of War. Why that functionary was called upon to settle a claim upon the Treasury it would not be easy to explain on any principle of sound policy, common sense, usage, or the courtesy due to the head of another Department. But whatever the motive which dictated the reference of the case, the result shows that it was lucky for the claimant. For, whereas Mr. COBB, with all the facts before him, gave to the four claimants, including DE GROOT, but $29,534 19, and of this sum DE GROOT was adjudged by disinterested parties to be entitled to but one-fourth part; the Secretary of War has granted to DE GROOT alone $119,000!

Nothing is clearer than that the lobby underrated the generosity of the Secretary of War. They should have taken in all the four applicants under the resolution of 1857, when there can be no doubt that the award would have been four times as great as that now made in favor of one of the parties.

Of the $119,000 awarded to DE GROOT, it is said that $84,000 are for constructive profits upon the manufacture of 21,000,000 of bricks, which were never made. If he had made them, it is assumed by the Secretary that he would have realized $4 per thousand upon them. The pretence is, that DE GROOT was ready to make them, and only failed in consequence of the failure of appropriations. This assumption I have shown to be utterly false. In the application made to the Secretary of the Treasury by DE GROOT and the other claimants, the assertion is twice repeated, that the contractors could have realized $3 50 per thousand. Mr. COBB, very justly and properly, allowed nothing; but the Secretary of War gives more than is demanded!

The remaining $35,000 awarded to DE GROOT by FLOYD is to compensate him for his expenses and outlays in preparing the brick-yard. I confess my surprise at this niggardly pruning. DE GROOT claimed in his application to Secretary COBB, to have sunk $67,153 18; and how it is that Mr. FLOYD has not allowed him for actual losses the same liberal excess over his demands which we have seen above in regard to his constructive losses, is quite unaccountable. It is true that DE BAUM and VENELAN, who were selected by the claimants, valued the investments in the brick-yard, including those made by DEGGS & SMITH, DE GROOT & Co., KELLOGG & Co., and MECHLIN & ALEXANDER, at less than one-third of this sum; that Mr. COBB's referees valued the investments at less than one-fifth of this sum; and that DE GROOT was adjudged to be entitled to only one-fourth part of this moderate estimate. But in a Department professing to do things on a large and liberal scale, this sudden grip of narrowness and parsimony is entirely out of character.

The Administration is said to be in great tribulation over this business, and especially the Attorney-General, who is held responsible for half the ignomy, in consequence of his legal opinion given in favor of constructive profits. Secretary FLOYD, who is more at home, is supposed to take the matter more coolly.

The Accident on the Racine and Mississippi Railroad.

From the Janesville Democrat, Sept. 17.

We have scarce finished reading the details of the late terrible disaster on the Lady Elgin, before we are called upon to chronicle another dreadful accident upon land. By telegraph of Sept. 15, we learn that the regular passenger train bound west on the Racine and Mississippi Railroad, last Friday evening, having on board excursionists returning from the county fair at Elkhorn, while taking wood and water at their usual stopping place, at Delavan, was run into by an extra freight train which was following. One car was smashed in pieces, and five persons killed, and some fifteen more or less injured. The following is a list of the killed:

A Mr. BAKER, produce dealer, of Delavan; Miss MARGARET SEAMAN, aged 15, of Darien; Mrs. DAVIS, of Sharon; a son of Mr. CATLIN, hardware dealer, Delavan, and a son of Mr. STOPPFULL, farmer, Delavan. The names of the wounded we have been unable yet to learn.

The Gazette of Saturday evening learns that a Mrs. DAVIS, of Allen's Grove, was found dead under the wreck of the cars, and that a Mr. JOHNSON, of Johnstown centre, had his skull and leg broken, and was supposed to be mortally wounded. The informant of the Gazette gives that paper the following account of the accident:

"Upon arriving at the village of Delavan, the train stopped to get water, about twenty rods from the depot. They had not been there more than a minute before the freight train from Elkhorn came around the curve in the road, which is rather sharp at this point, and ran into the passenger train. The wood-car platform was crowded with men and boys, but they fortunately had time to jump from it and save themselves. The wood-car was then driven forward into the rear passenger-car, clear through it, and a portion of it penetrated the passenger-car beyond. In its passage it just cleared the floor and swept every seat, with their occupants, all who stood up and crowded the passage, the sides and top of the car, and piled the wreck into the space between the cars and upon the rear of the next passenger-car ahead. Upon the top of this wreck the wood-car reared itself with its wheels, and the wheels of the passenger-car which had been demolished. Underneath all this were some seventy-five or eighty human beings—some killed instantly, others wounded to death, and still others writhing in agony caused by horrible injuries. Our informant says it was an awful sight. So closely were the materials of the demolished cars jammed together, that it was half an hour before the wreck could be cleared, so that the people could be got out.

This accident has evidently been the result of carelessness, and those having the train in charge should be held to the strictest accountability.

THE FLAG OF ITALY.—A short time since a vessel arrived at this port from Sicily, that country which, in so brief a period, under the gallant lead of GARIBALDI, has succeeded in overthrowing the tyrannical Neapolitan Government, and in joining the party now striving to make of the different sections of that beautiful land one nationality. The Captain of the vessel presented himself at the Custom-house, as is usual, with his papers. "From what country do you come?" said the matter-of-fact official. "From Italy," replied the Italian. "But from what particular nation? From Naples, Sicily or Sardinia?" "From the nation of Italy," replied the Captain. The perplexed official again busily searched the official book containing the flags of the different nationalities, and then remarked, "I find here no flag of Italy." "But there is an Italy," replied the Captain, and from no other nationality would he report his vessel. Our Government has received no official notice of any change of government in Sicily, and must, therefore, act for the present under the existing regulations, though in the present case the Captain persists in reporting that he neither sails under the Sardinian, the Sicilian, the Neapolitan, but under the flag of Italy!"—Boston Traveller.

THE JOHN BROWN FUND IN HAYTI.—Mr. R. J. HINTON writes to the Boston Traveller as follows: "I am glad to be able to give the friends, as well as those who indulged a short time since in derisive comments upon the small sum reported, some reliable information as to the real amount of the fund raised in Hayti for the benefit of JOHN BROWN's family and the survivors of the Harper's Ferry movement. My friend, JAMES REDPATH, writing from Port au Prince under date of August 27, says in substance: The amount of the fund so far collected and in the hands of the authorities at Port au Prince, is nearly 4,000 American dollars. This amount was mostly subscribed in the department of which Port au Prince is the chief town. Returns are to come in from the other departments of the Republic, eight in number. It may be reasonably expected that the above sum will be still further increased when all sections of the island shall have been heard from."

—Mr. Robert Chambers, the junior member of the well-known publishing firm of W. & R. Chambers, Edinburgh, is soon to make a visit to this country. He will spend several months in traveling through the different States.

Rights of Assignees.

Theodore P. Edgerton vs. Albert W. Page.—This case was before the General Term of the Common Pleas on appeal from an order at Special Term. The facts were that the plaintiff on June 26, 1857, recovered a judgment in this action against the defendant for $546 13, from which an appeal was taken to the Court of Appeals. On Aug. 16, 1858, and pending the appeal, the plaintiff assigned the judgment to David Winebrener for a valuable consideration, and thus divested himself of all interest or claim respecting it. The judgment having been affirmed, and an execution having been issued to collect the amount due upon it, the defendant moved to set aside the execution, and have the judgment declared satisfied; upon the ground that he had paid in good faith to the Sheriff, who holds the execution, a sum equal to the amount due on it, upon an execution heretofore issued to the same Sheriff, founded on a judgment recovered in this Court, against the plaintiff in this case in favor of William Barker and others, and that such payment was made under the provisions of sec. 293 of the Code, and without knowledge or notice of the fact that the plaintiff had previously assigned the judgment thus obtained by him. The motion was denied, and the defendant appealed from the order entered. The Court have affirmed the order. The following is the substance of the opinion:

HILTON J., (after stating the facts.)—A question in all respects similar to this arose in the case of Robinson vs. Weeks, (1 Code Rep. N. S., 311,) and the Court then very properly remarked, that although the section of the Code referred to authorized a debtor of a judgment debtor to pay the amount of his debt upon any execution in the hands of the Sheiff against the judgment debtor, yet it does not make it his duty so to do; and, therefore, as the law imposes no obligation upon him to make such a payment, in making it he does it as his peril; and if, as was the case here at the time of the payment, the judgment debt which he thus sought to discharge was the property of another, and did not belong to the defendant in the execution on which the payment was made, it amounted to nothing as against such rightful owner.

I am not aware that it is necessary to the validity of an assignment of a judgment that the debtor should be notified of it, although it is true that in the absence of knowledge on the part of the debtor of such an assignment having been made, a payment by him in good faith to the plaintiff in the judgment would be effectual, and the Court would protect him in it, and leave the true owner to his remedy against the person receiving the money. But when a debtor voluntarily assumes to discharge the debts of others, he takes upon himself the risk as to whether the debt thus paid is really that of his creditor, and where, as in this case, it turns out that he has made a mistake, he will not be protected, but will be left to abide the consequences of his own folly.

It follows from these views that the payment which the defendant appears in this case to have made, did not operate to discharge the judgment against him, and that the order at Special Term was right. (Countryman vs. Boyer, 3 How. R. 386. Calkins vs. Parker, 21 Barb., S. C., 275.)

Order at Special Term affirmed, with $10 costs.

The Health Warden Judgment.

MOTION TO VACATE DENIED.

Grant H. Adams vs. The Mayor, &c.—This case has been several times fully stated in the TIMES. The plaintiff was a Health Warden of the Eighteenth Ward, and was removed from office on the 15th of May, 1858, but still claimed title thereto, and brought his action for salary claimed subsequently to the date of his removal.

The case was referred to James M. Smith, who reported in the plaintiff's favor for $1,420 83. On that report judgment was entered, and the Comptroller now moved to have the same vacated, on the ground that it was obtained by collusion and fraud. The case was submitted to Justice INGRAHAM, at Chambers of the Supreme Court, on written points. The motion was now denied, with $10 costs.

Henry E. Hoyt vs. Same.—This case was exactly similar to the case of Adams, in all respects; and they were heard together, and treated alike.

Vacation of Order Supplementary to Execution.

Emil Kanter vs. John N. Genin.—In this case an order supplementary to execution for the examination of the judgment debtor was granted by Justice SUTHERLAND on the 17th day of August, 1860. Pending the continuance of the order a discharge from all indebtedness was granted to Mr. Genin by the City Judge, upon the application of two-thirds of his creditors. The counsel for the defendant now moved before Justice INGRAHAM, at Chambers, Special Term of the Supreme Court, that the order supplementary to execution be vacated and set aside upon the ground that the judgment upon which the plaintiff's order was predicated, was extinguished by the discharge, and that as a consequence the order ceased to have any force or effect. The Court granted the motion and vacated the supplementary order.

G. M. Miller for plaintiff; E. W. Dodge for defendant.

The Rent of "Volks Garten."

INJUNCTION DENIED.

Hetzel vs. Harmann, et al.—This was a motion for an injunction and receiver, made before Justice PIERREPONT at Special Term of the Superior Court.

The case was fully stated in the TIMES of the 13th inst., at which time the motion was heard.

The plaintiff alleged that the defendants had fraudulently conveyed the "Garten" to one Mandell, who was in receipt of $12,000 per annum rental, and as a judgment creditor of some of the defendants, plaintiff prayed for an injunction and receiver.

The motion was now denied.

The Cheever Church Case.

Hartt et al vs. White et al.—This case was on Saturday submitted on written points to the decision of Justice INGRAHAM at Chambers of the Supreme Court.

Opening of Madison-avenue.

FURTHER POSTPONEMENT.

Matter of Opening Madison-avenue.—This matter was now further postponed, to give time for some necessary action on the part of the Common Council.

Decisions.

SUPREME COURT—CHAMBERS.

INGRAHAM, J.—Fowler vs. Briggs.—Motion granted on condition.

Rocker vs. Rocker.—Divorce granted.

Van Wycks et al. vs. Hardy.—Motion granted unless plaintiffs correct proceedings within thirty days, and pay $10 costs of motion.

SUPERIOR COURT.

PIERREPONT, J.—Schuyler vs. Sears, Randall vs. Harrington—Motions denied with costs.

Wade vs. Easton.—Motion granted, unless defendants produce other proof in reference to service of injunction.

MONDAY, Sept. 24—A. M.

The Trade of the past week, though rather less active than the week before in the entries of Foreign Goods, continued generally large in the way of sales, and active in the clearances of Domestic Produce. The export of Specie is trifling in amount compared with the heavy movement of last September. It scarcely amounts this week to the receipts from the interior by coast steamer and express, exclusive of $1,202,657, which will be delivered to-day from the California steamer of Sept. 1. The last Bank Average being a declining one from the shipment outward of $700,000 on Saturday week, the statement to be made up officially this afternoon may show a moderate decrease, though we look for no important difference in either the Specie or Discount Averages. The market for Money rules steady in rates and comfortable in supply to borrowers at 6½@7 ⅌ cent., and Exchange on England, for Banker's bills, also steady at 109⅛@109¼ ⅌ cent. The Import entries of the week, including the Dry Goods table in our last paper, are $3,730,080 against $3,904,426 same week last year. The clearances of Domestic Produce $2,151,358 against $1,544,445 same week last season, and of Specie $530,843 against $2,683,570 same week last September. The Sub-Treasury Specie balance stands $5,446,804 against $5,636,367 at the close of the previous week.

According to the Custom-house tables of the Foreign Trade at this port, which we published a few weeks since, for eight months of the calendar year, the Import entries of Foreign Merchandise from 1st January to 31st August, amounted to	$167,546,000

Add three weeks in September	11,476,355
Total entries to date	$179,022,355
Against same time in 1859	189,483,708
Decrease to date	$10,461,353

The same tables make the Export clearances of Domestic Produce and Miscellaneous Goods—including Foreign articles reëxported—from 1st

January to 31st August	$59,807,000
Add three weeks in September	6,185,275
Total to date	$65,992,275
Against same time 1859	48,127,138
Increase to date	$17,865,137

The Same tables make the Export of Specie

to 31st August	$38,600,000
Add three weeks in September	2,818,615
Total to date	$41,418,615

The speculation on the Stock Exchange continued active through the past week, showing at the close on Saturday considerable animation, with prices generally in favor of the rise. The exceptions were Galena Shares, which closed 78 ⅌ cent.; and Panama, which, after being sold below 124 in the forenoon, left off that figure bid. The New-York Railway Shares were apparently greater favorites of the speculation for the advance than some of the Westerns; Central, Erie and Hudson were all in demand, and closed firm. The Erie Shares commanded more than the usual attention through the week, and an additional rise of 4½ ⅌ cent. was established, making about 8 ⅌ cent. for the fortnight. This heavy speculative movement in the Stock imparted additional firmness to the bonds of the Company, and the highest figures of the season were paid or bid for everything below the second mortgage, to wit: thirds, par, including 10½ ⅌ cent. overdue coupons; fourths, 85½; fifths, 80½; and Convertibles, 64@65 ⅌ cent. The first and second mortgages, on which all arrearages of interest have been paid by the Receiver are also firm, 103½ for the firsts and 99@100 for the seconds. Of the latter, over half a million have been voluntarily extended twenty years, the holders receiving a fresh sheet of coupons. There is little question that the entire mortgage will be thus renewed at a very trifling cost to the Company—perhaps none at all. New-York Central has gradually risen under steady purchases by strong parties to 89½ ⅌ cent. ex dividend; and Hudson River holds the advance to 63@63½ ⅌ cent. Large purchases are also being made in both the common and preference shares of the Harlem road. On the Western list, the liveliest interest, near the close of the week, was on Rock Island, which from 81⅛ fell off to 78½ ⅌ cent, up to Friday afternoon. The decline brought in new buyers on Saturday, and although speculative sellers were disposed to push their advantage, the price rallied to 78⅞, cash, and 79 on buyer's option. There is a little more spirit shown in Reading shares, on the fine improvement reported in the coal and other traffic of the line, but no sustained speculation appears yet to have been organized. The Michigan shares and Cleveland and Toledo are scarcely as high as at the close of the previous week; Galena is nearly 2 ⅌ cent. lower. A report was current on Saturday that another misunderstanding has taken place in passenger competition with what is called the Rockford road, and of this some use is made, of course, by speculative sellers. In regard to the stock of the Panama Company, the following note is communicated by the President of the Company:

OFFICE OF THE PANAMA RAILROAD COMPANY,
NEW-YORK, Sept. 22, 1860.

The statements contained in the money article of the New-York Herald of this morning being calculated to mislead those who have no opportunity to obtain information at the office of the Company, it seems proper to make the following communication:

The falling off in the total receipts of the Panama Railroad Company for the first seven months of the present year, (to the 1st of August, the latest dates to which the accounts are complete,) as compared with the corresponding period of 1859, is precisely $32,820 72. The receipts from freight alone during the same months of 1860, are $63,347 50 greater than in the same period in 1859, and comparing this year with 1858, the aggregate receipts to the 1st of August, 1860, are $129,733 21 in excess of the corresponding months of 1858. Since the opening of the Road in 1855, the freight business of the line has been steadily increasing, while the passenger traffic has been influenced from time to time by the arrangements of the steamship lines connecting with the route. It will be recollected that during the greater part of last year, a fierce rivalry existed between the California steamer lines, which reduced the through fares to such a degree that 10,000 more passengers crossed the Isthmus that year than during the average of the preceding four years.

The disturbed state of affairs in New-Granada has produced, and can produce, but little effect upon the business of the Road, less than 1 ⅌ cent. thereof being derived from the whole Confederation. Buenaventura is the only port of New-Granada which furnishes produce freights for the Panama route. Cochineal is obtained exclusively from Central America. A large part of the last crop crossed the Railroad, and nearly the whole of the next crop is expected to take that direction.

No "distinct understanding," nor any understanding, has ever existed on the part of the Board of Directors of the Company as to the rate of future dividends. Should the receipts of the remainder of the year equal the estimate of the Herald—and it is believed they will be considerably greater—it is safe to say that on the 1st of January next the Company will be in a condition to make its usual semi-annual dividend of 6 ⅌ cent., besides the regular contribution to the Sinking Fund, and adding 2 ⅌ cent. to the present surplus. DAVID HOADLEY, President.

In regard to the market for Money and Bullion at San Francisco, the circular of Messrs. W. T. COLEMAN & Co. writes:

"There is a good demand for funds for the approaching steamer, but no difficulty is experienced in obtaining accommodation on good security at 1½@2 ⅌ cent., according to size of loan and acceptability of collateral. Lower rates prevail on real estate and other long investments, but mercantile paper can scarcely be done for less than 1½, while the majority of transactions have been done at 1¾@2 ⅌ cent. ⅌ month. No alteration is observable in Exchange, whether domestic or foreign. A good deal is doing in the latter, particularly in commercial bills on London, owing to the animation in the export market. A vast quantity of domestic produce is going forward, giving rise to a demand for ready money with which to effect purchases, and calling in requisition the aid of exchange. Our exports of merchandise within the last sixty days have amounted in value to over $1,700,000, of which not less than $1,000,000 has been in agricultural products. This being the season peculiarly adverse to mining pursuits, owing to the scarcity of water, the receipts of gold dust have latterly been quite light, giving rise to a scarcity of gold bars, which at this time is felt to be a serious inconvenience. For the coming steamer, bars are in active demand, with an inadequate supply. The rate to-day is 880 fine par, with an advancing tendency.

The operations of the United States Branch Mint in this city from 1st to 25th August were as follows:

The Gold Bullion deposited (weight after melting) was 42,167.50 ounces.

Coinage, Gold Double Eagles		$1,270,000
Coinage, Silver Half Dollars	$10,000
Coinage, Silver Quarter Dollars	7,000—	17,000
Total Coinage		$1,287,000

There is some demand for Mexican Dollars, but the market is entirely bare. We quote nominally at 8½ ⅌ cent. premium."

A report obtained, on Saturday, that the Dry-Goods Jobbing firm of LANE, BOYCE & Co., late W. G. LAW & Co., have asked for an extension on their maturing liabilities of one year. The old house, it will be remembered, suspended temporarily in the panic of 1857. Their Southern trade, this season, proves lighter than they had prepared themselves for, and their collections rather backward.

Messrs. SEYTON & WAINWRIGHT, of the Stock Exchange, No. 17 William-street, are now making up a conveniently-arranged weekly circular and review for their English correspondents, issued in season for each mail-steamer sailing on Saturdays.

The New-Orleans and Havana steamer Bienville brought in on Saturday $120,000 in Gold from New-Orleans. The New-Orleans Picayune, of Monday last, reports of the Exchange market:

"The movement in to-day's market was a moderate one. Some disposition was evinced to operate in Cotton, but the transactions did not attain the figure which the demand seemed to warrant. Hence the offerings of Exchange were insufficient to affect rates, and the market presents the same uniformity of feature that prevailed last week. Sterling was done to a limited extent at 109¾@109⅞, and exceptionally at 110 for good to prime commercial signatures. There were no Bill of Lading Drafts offered, but those of good make would bring 109@109½. Some Francs, resulting from recent purchases of Cotton, were moved at 5f.16¼@5f.15, the market ranging from 5f.18¾@5f.13¾. The Banks are drawing Sterling at 110⅝@110¾, and Francs at 5f.10@5f.07½, in sums to suit. Sixty-day Bills on New-York take a wide range, say from ⅜@1⅜ ⅌ cent. discount, the former for names readily discountable in Wall-street, but the supply of all kinds is quite limited. Sight remains scarce, and outside signatures are taken quickly at ½@9-16 premium. The Banks obtain ⅜ at the counter, but they have hardly enough to meet the current demand. One of them made a shipment of Coin on Saturday to New-York of $120,000, mainly for the purpose of providing Sight for their collection accounts."

The London mails by the Europa at Boston brought the following on American Stocks from Mr. E. F. SATTERTHWAITE:

"We have had, during the past week, a very active market in American Securities, the demand having extended to most of the shares and bonds quoted on the Stock Exchange Official list. Illinois have again further advanced, touching at one time 12½ discount; from that point they have receded to 15 sellers, on receipt of telegrams per Parana quoting them 85¾ on 1st September in New-York. Considerable purchases have been made in Erie shares, from 29 to 30 ⅌ cent. We note a continuance of the demand for New-York Central 7 ⅌ cent. bonds, which has now forced them to such a premium as to make them yield a smaller rate of interest than investers in American Railroad bonds expect to obtain. Just at the critical time the weather has become dry and warm. Harvesting has become general, and the yield promises to be better than was expected. The effect has been immediate in the money market, the rate of discount having fallen ⅛ ⅌ cent., and long-dated paper, which a week ago would scarcely be looked at, is now taken on easy terms. The money lenders have evidently been preparing themselves for a great stringency had the weather continued. Consols have improved, closing 93⅛ to ¼ for money, and 94⅛ to ⅜ for account, 11th October."

The London Times of Saturday, (subsequent to the above), remarks:

"A telegram of the New-York prices on the 1st inst. was received to-day, via Galway. It announces a reaction of 2 or 3 ⅌ cent. in the principal Western Railway Stocks, and a proportionate decline has consequently taken place this afternoon in the quotations on this side."

The Buffalo Courier says of the Grain deliveries at that port:

"Within forty-eight hours, ending last evening, a fleet of over one hundred vessels, including propellers, &c., have arrived at this port, containing one million, three hundred and sixty-nine thousand, three hundred and sixty-two bushels of Grain, and eight thousand, six hundred and eleven barrels of Flour. Reducing Flour, the aggregate is 1,412,417 bushels. The greater portion of this amount consists of Wheat, there having been imported, within the time above specified, 1,216,485 bushels of that product. On Thursday alone, our Grain receipts were about 1,000,000 bushels."

The Miner's Journal of Saturday reports:

"The whole increase this week, it will be observed, is from Schuylkill County. This is owing to the freshet which occurred, which limited the Canal supply last year. It is therefore evident that all the regions, for the balance of the season, will not be able to increase much on the supply of last year.

Prices of Coal are becoming more firm in this region, and we should not be surprised if prices would advance. There are no stocks in the market, and cold weather seems to be setting in earlier than usual this season.

The superiority of Anthracite over Bituminous Coal for ocean steam purposes, is becoming yearly more palpable. Three pounds of the former is equal to five of the latter for real service. This was proved in the recent trip of the Great Eastern home, when she used Bituminous in place of Anthracite. The latter Coal she used on the passage here."

The following Chicago report is to Thursday, P. M., copied from the Press:

"Exchange continues very close at ⅜ of 1 ⅌ cent. premium. Currency is plenty and generally the market is working smoothly, and is easy in every line except exchange. More active shipments within the next few days will relieve the market.

Gold—buying rates ¾@1 ⅌ cent.—selling 1½@1⅝. Little wanted.

The receipts of wheat to-day amounted to 94,884 bushels, and the shipments to only 32,500 bushels. The wheat market to-day, owing to a decline in freights, as well as light receipts, and an active speculative and shipping inquiry, advanced 1c.@2c. After the receipt of the Buffalo dispatches, however, the market was easier, and at the close the outside prices paid in the early part of the day were not sustained.

A large fleet of vessels arrived to-day, and freights declined about 2c. ⅌ bushel. About 21 vessels were engaged at 11c.@12c. for wheat to Buffalo, and 10c.@11c. for corn; 7½c. for corn to Port Sarnia; and 15c. for corn to Oswego.

GENERAL MARKETS.

NEW-YORK, Saturday, Sept. 22, 1860—6 P. M.

The reported receipts of the principal kinds of Produce, since our last, have been 239 bbls. Ashes, 31,438 bbls. Flour, 374 bbls. Corn Meal, 238,319 bushels Wheat, 90,273 bushels Corn, 2,753 bushels Rye, 218 packages Provisions, and 527 bbls. Whisky.

ASHES—Sell slowly at $5 25 for Pots, and $5 56¼ for Pearls, ⅌ 100 lbs. Stock in the Inspection Warehouse this morning, 754 bbls., including 477 bbls. Pots and 277 bbls. Pearls.

COFFEE—Sales to-day, 200 bags Government Java on private terms; 100 mats do., at 16½c.; 150 bags Rio at 14½c.@15c., and 250 bags Laguayra on terms not ascertained.

COTTON—The reported transactions since our last add up 1,100 bales at our revised quotations:

FLOUR AND MEAL—State and Western Flour is depressed and lower to-day. The current receipts are large, and the available supply exceeds the requirements of buyers. Holders are generally eager to sell, and more disposed to make concessions to purchasers. Sales have been reported, since our last, of 14,600 bbls., in lots, including superfine State at $5 05@$5 20, chiefly at $5 10@$5 12½; inferior to choice extra State at $5 30@$5 50, with some unispected as low as $5 25; superfine Western at $5 00@$5 20; extra Iowa and Wisconsin at $5 30@$6 10; extra Illinois, Indiana and Michigan at $5 40@$6 25; very inferior extra Ohio at $5 40@$5 50; round-hoop extra Ohio, shipping brands, $5 55@$5 70, mainly $5 60 ⅌ bbl.

Southern Flour is heavy and cheaper. The reported transactions add up 1,750 bbls., in lots, chiefly at $5 70@$5 95 for very poor to good superior Alexandria, Baltimore, &c., and $6@$7 50 for fancy to very choice extra brands, ⅌ bbl. Canadian is in less request, including superfine at $5 10@$5 20, and inferior to very choice extra, $5 40@$7 50, ⅌ bbl.; 460 bbls. changed hands. Rye Flour is quiet at $3 50@$4 35 for fine and superfine ⅌ bbl. Corn Meal is in moderate demand at $3 50 for Jersey and Western, and $3 95 for Brandywine, ⅌ bbl.

GRAIN—Wheat has been quite plenty, to-day, and prices have declined 2c.@3c. ⅌ bushel. The demand has been less active, especially from shippers. We have heard of sales of 108,000 bushels, including choice white Canada, at $1 51; white Western, ordinary to choice, at $1 30@$1 45; Amber Western, $1 27@$1 28; sound Red Western at $1 25@$1 26; Amber Iowa Spring, at $1 24; Milwaukee Club, $1 21@$1 23; Chicago Spring, No. 2 and No. 1, at $1 14@$1 20; white Genesee at $1 45; red State at $1 24 ⅌ bushel. Corn is heavy and cheaper. The supply is fair; sales 78,000 bushels, at 65c.@66½c. for mixed Western, afloat; an unascertained price for do. in store; 69c. for yellow Western, and 70c. for yellow Southern ⅌ bushel. Rye continues in request at 78c.@79c. ⅌ bushel. Sales, 2,700 bushels. Oats are moderately inquired for, including Canada at 37½c.@38c.; Western at 37c.@38c., and State at 38c.@39c. ⅌ bushel. Barley is scarce and wanted. Small lotes of State have been purchased at 80c.@84c. ⅌ bushel.

Eight hundred and forty-nine thousand bushels of Wheat were poured in upon us during the 24 hours ending last night, and of other grain almost sufficient to make the receipts one million of bushels during a single day.—Buffalo Express, Sept. 21.

HAY—Sales to-day 750 bales North River, at 75c.@85c. for shipment, and 87½c.@95c. for local use, ⅌ 100 lbs.

HIDES—The market opened briskly with an upward tendency. Toward the close of the week less activity was apparent, yet prices were supported. Week's receipts, 9,872 hides. Week's sales, 55,284 hides, including, according to Messrs. WEIZEL and WEIDEMEYER: 7,100 Buenos Ayres, 21@22 lbs., 24c., 6 months, usual selection; 2,500 Buenos Ayres, for Europe, 22 lbs., 23c., in bond, 6 months, usual selection; 3,000 Montevideo, for Albany, &c., 21 lbs., 24c., 6 months, usual selection; 3,000 Montevideo, for Canada, 23c., in bond, 6 months, usual selection; 1,500 Cordova, 22 lbs., 21½c., 6 months, usual selection; 1,541 Rio Grande, 21 lbs., 23½c., 6 months, usual selection; 2,168 Aspinwall, to arrive, 20 lbs., 21c., 6 months, usual selection; 1,961 Maracaibo, 22 lbs., 21c., 6 months, rejecting bad hides; 5,100 Porto Cabello, 20@22 lbs., part 21c., 6 months, rejecting water damaged; 1,150 Laguayra, 23 lbs., on private terms; 5,221 Truxillo, 16 lbs., 21c., 6 months, rejecting bad hides; 4,000 Mexican, 23 lbs., on private terms; 2,229 Maranham, dry salted, 25 lbs., 17c., 6 months, usual selection; 1,800 Sandwich Islands, dry salted, 30 lbs., 17c., 6 months, usual selection; 305 Chile, dry salted, 30 lbs., 18½c., 6 months, usual selection; 1,000 Texas, 22 lbs., on private terms; 400 wet salted Rio Grande, for Boston, 47 lbs., 13c., 6 months, usual selection; 616 wet salted California, 55 lbs., 11½c., 6 months, usual selection; 200 wet salted Mexican, 45 lbs., on private terms; 600 Country Slaughter, 68 lbs., 8c.@8½c. cash, rejecting bad hides; 500 Country Slaughter, for Europe, 60 lbs., on private terms; 1,000 City Slaughter, 65@70 lbs., 9½c. cash, rejecting bad hides; 333 wet salted, Buenos Ayres Horse, for Boston, 30 lbs., 9½c., 6 months, rejecting bad hides. In addition to the above, 4,000 Buenos Ayres changed hands at 24c., on speculation, and 8,000 Rio Grande were sent to tannery for importers' account.

LATHS—Eastern, $1 65 ⅌ thousand.

LEATHER—The movements in this line, during the week, Messrs. H. D. HULL & Co. notice thus: "The market for Hemlock Sole, during the week, has been active, and prices have advanced about ½c. on most descriptions. The sales have been large, but part were among the trade, on speculation, so that the stock is not materially reduced. The demand from Eastern manufacturers and dealers is light, for the season, as the prospects of the Boot and Shoe trade present no inducements for them to anticipate their wants. Heavy Leather of prime quality continues to be much sought after, and is in small supply, while light weights are neglected, with a large stock. Oak Tanned is in moderate request, at fair prices. Over weights is in small supply and commands outside quotations. We quote: Oak Slaughter and salted, good light, 28c.@30c.; Oak, good middle, 28c.@30c.; Oak, good heavy, 27c.@29c.; Oak, light Southern, 24c.@26c.; Oak heavy, for banding, good, 28c.@30c.; Oak, Spanish, all weights, 24c.@27c.; Oak, cropped, 34c.@36c.; Hemlock, Buenos Ayres &c., all weights, light, 20c.@21c.; Hemlock, Buenos Ayres, &c., all weights, middle, 21c.@22c.; Hemlock, Buenos Ayres, &c., all weights, heavy, 20½c.@21½c.; Hemlock, California, all weights, light, 20c.@21c.; Hemlock, California, all weights, middle, 21c.@22c.; Hemlock, California, all weights, heavy, 20½c.@21½c.; Hemlock, Oronoco, &c., all weights, light, 19c.@20c.; Hemlock, Oronoco, &c., all weights, middle, 19½c.@20½c.; Hemlock, Oronoco, &c., all weights, heavy, 18½c.@20c.; Hemlock, Oronoco, and B. A., damaged all weights, 17c.@19c.; Hemlock, Oronoco, and B. A., poor, all weights, 12c.@14c.; Hemlock Slaughter, in rough, 23c.@25c., on six months' credit.

LIME—Rockland, 75c for common, and $1 for lump, ⅌ bbl.

METALS—Have been quiet, to-day, at unchanged figures.

NAVAL STORES—Resin has been in very moderate request, including common, at $1 35@$1 40 ⅌ 310 lbs. Tar and Crude Turpentine remain as last noticed. Spirits Turpentine has been in fair demand, at 40c.@41½c. ⅌ gallon.

OILS—Most descriptions have been rather inactive, to-day, at previous quotations.

PROVISIONS—Pork has been in moderate request, and sales have been made of 600 bbls., including New Mess at $19 30@$19 37½; Old Mess at $19; New Prime at $14@$14 25, and Old Prime at $13 25 ⅌ bbl. Nothing really new in Cut Meats or Bacon. Lard is in demand, at steady rates; sales 400 tcs. and bbls., at 12½c.@13¼c. ⅌ lb. Beef is salable and firm. The transactions include 335 bbls., in lots, at $8 50@$9 75 for repacked Western Mess; $10 75@$11 50 for extra Western Mess; $5@$6 for Country Mess, and $4@$4 50 for Country Prime, ⅌ bbl. Prime Mess, $14@$18 ⅌ tierce. Beef Hams, $10@$15 ⅌ bbl. Butter is inquired for, at 16c.@21c. for new State, and 12c.@17c. for Western, ⅌ lb. Cheese continues in fair demand, at 9½c.@11½c. ⅌ lb.

RICE—Sales have been reported, since our last, of only small lots at from $4 62½@$4 87½ ⅌ 100 lbs.

SKINS—Deer have been in good demand at steady prices. Sales, 12,000 lbs. Sisal, on private terms; 3,000 San Juan and Central America at 38c.@40c., and 2,000 lbs. California at 22½c. Goat have been in fair request at uniform rates. Sales, 180 bales Curacoa at 53c., 6 mos.; 30 bales Sandwich Islands, and 20 bales Chilian, on private terms. The Evaline Bates, from Matamoras, with about 300 bales Goat skins, most of which were sold last week to arrive, has put into Mobile in distress.

SUGARS—Have been comparatively quiet, to-day, sales having been reported of only 800 hhds., including Cuba, at 6⅝c.@7⅛c., with Porto Rico at 7¼c.@8⅜c. ⅌ lb.

WHISKY—Is in demand at 23¼c.@23½c. ⅌ gallon. Sales, 350 bbls.

FREIGHTS—Shipowners have been more willing to accommodate shippers, in whose favor rates have been tending to-day. The engagements, however, have not been very heavy. For Liverpool, Cotton, 3-16d.@7-32d. ⅌ lb.; Flour, 3s. 7½d. @3s. 9d. ⅌ bbl.: Grain, 12½d.@13d. ⅌ bushel; Resin, 3s. 6d. ⅌ 310 lbs. CHOCOLATE.

Chocolate is healthy, agreeable to the taste and nutritive.

It is used everywhere as a pectoral, as a strengthening agent.

It is acknowledged by every "Medical Institute," and recommended for the benefit of feeble constitutions and sickly persons.

Use "Chocolate Bonbons" for your children, instead of any other "bonbons or candies."

Use "Chocolate" for your LUNCH.

Every "business man" ought to keep in his desk a tablet of "MENDES' Health Chocolate."

It is used in Paris and in London by all persons whose business does not allow their going home at mid-day, as the most nutritive "lunch," as the most agreeable food.

The best "lunch" is a cake of good "Chocolate" with a roll of bread and a glass of water for beverage.

Make your purchase of

E. MENDES,
Manufacturer of Patented Chocolate,
No. 645 Broadway.

PERSONAL.

MESSRS. PAUL S. BROWN'S SONS. SUCCESSORS to Paul S. Brown, respectfully solicit the orders of their many patrons and friends for bread, cake, pastries, &c. MISCELLANEOUS.

TO SOUTHERNERS.
DRINKERS OF CONGRESS WATER.

Much spurious Mineral Water is sold as "CONGRESS WATER" by unprincipled persons or counterfeiters, who, when they dare not use that name, call it "Saratoga" Water; although "Saratoga" is only the name of the town in which the Spring is located.

To protect the public from such impositions we have ALL our corks branded thus

CONGRESS
C. & W.
WATER.

Any not having these words and letters on the Corks are Counterfeit; and the purchaser should prosecute the Seller for swindling.

Orders will receive prompt attention if addressed to us, at our Southern Depot of Congress Water, No. 98 Cedar-st., New-York City.

CLARKE & WHITE,
Proprietors Congress Spring.

Lists of dealers who procure Congress Water for their sales direct from our house, are kept at our office for distribution to those who desire to purchase genuine Congress Water in their own neighborhood. C. & W.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The steamship Adriatic, from Havre and Southampton on the 13th inst., with three days' later European advices, arrived off Sandy Hook about 11 o'clock last night, and reached her dock before 1 o'clock this morning. The advices are highly important. Garibaldi had entered Naples, accompanied only by his staff, and had been received in the most enthusiastic manner by the people. The Ex-King was still at Gaeta, and some doubt existed as to whether he would eventually go to Spain or to Austria. The insurrections still continued in the Papal States, and Sardinia was still making preparations for intervention.

The steamship Ariel, from Aspinwall on the 15th inst., arrived at this port yesterday morning. The advices from California, anticipated by the Overland Mail, are to the 1st inst., and the treasure list reaches $1,202,675. By this arrival we receive ten days' later news from New-Granada, and a fortnight's later news from the different Central and South American States. In New-Granada the revolution still goes on without either party gaining any decisive advantage. Seven out of eight States of the Confederation are now in open revolt against the General Government. Our correspondent furnishes full particulars of the progress of the war. In Costa Rica, Ex-President Mora's popularity is on the increase, and there are prospects of a civil commotion at no very distant date. From other Central American States the news is unimportant. The civil war in Ecuador appears to be drawing to a close, owing, it is said, to the inability of Franco to compete with Flores. The exequator of the American Consul at Guayaquil had been revoked. Owing to the vacillating conduct of Mr. Buchanan's Administration, the American claims against Peru are still unadjusted. The wreck of the Boston ship Chatsworth on the Chilian coast is reported.

The steamship Bienville, from New-Orleans on the 15th and Havana on the 18th inst., arrived at this port on Saturday afternoon. There is nothing new from Havana. The United States steamer Crusader, en route for Cuba, was spoken on the 18th inst. by the Bienville. Havana papers, received to the 15th inst. inclusive, make no mention of the fact that Walker had been shot by the Honduran authorities. This news, it will be remembered, was brought to New-Orleans by the Cahawba, which left Havana on the 18th inst., and is supposed to have been brought from Truxillo by the Spanish war steamer Francisco de Asis.

The steamship City of Washington, Capt. Jeffrey, left on Saturday for Queenstown and Liverpool, with 52 passengers in the cabin, and 194 in the steerage. She carried out $14,761 in specie. The steamer Illinois, Capt. Terry, left at the same hour for Havre, with 171 passengers, and $448,362 53 in specie.

Judging from the first accounts which reach us in the New-Orleans papers, the gale of Friday and Saturday, the 14th and 15th inst., was the most terrible and destructive which has ever swept over the Gulf of Mexico. The wind blew from the southeast, and seemingly gathering force with its continuance, raged for a longer period than is usual with the equinoxial hurricanes. The City of New-Orleans itself was spared, but the Gulf was swept with terrific violence, and the losses to citizens must be immense. All along the coast the wharves, bathing-houses and other buildings were swept away, and the whole shore, after the subsidence of the gale, was strewn with debris. The watering-places across Lake Pontchartrain, were also great sufferers. Of these, Biloxi was the most ruthlessly dealt with—the market-house, hotels, and some sixty other buildings, being entirely destroyed, involving a loss of nearly $200,000. The whole vicinity, in fact, presents a scene of general desolation. In addition to all this is the damage to the shipping, of which it is yet impossible to form any estimate.

One calamity is followed by another in New-Orleans. On Friday night a number of liquor-stores on Tchoupitoulas-street, between Lafayette and Girod, were burnt. In the upper story of one of them was stored a large quantity of spirits, which exploded, blowing over a large building on the corner of Tchoupitoulas-street. Forty or fifty persons were buried in the ruins, of whom fifteen were killed and several others wounded. A square of the city was also burnt on Saturday morning.

La Mountain, the balloonist, has had another perilous adventure. He made an ascent from Albany, and traveled at the rate of a mile a minute for about thirty miles, when he attempted to land at East Lanesboro', Mass. He was caught in a tornado, and dashed against a stone wall with such violence as to knock him senseless. The balloon, however, cleared the wall, and dragged at a fearful rate of speed for a considerable distance, until it finally collapsed, being torn nearly to tatters. La Mountain was thrown out, and remained unconscious for half an hour, though he was immediately taken care of by some persons who witnessed his perilous descent. He was terribly bruised, though fortunately none of his bones were broken.

An explosion of fire-damp occurred in a coal mine at Pittston, Penn., on Saturday, which caused the greatest excitement. Six men were in the mine at the time, all of whom, however, with the exception of one, managed to escape.

Iberia, Morrow County, Ohio, was on Thursday last the scene of a fugitive slave excitement. The United States Marshals went from Cincinnati to arrest three negroes who had escaped from Germantown, Ky. They succeeded, however, in securing but one of them—being prevented from arresting the others by the interference of the citizens. A desperate affray occurred, in which firearms were used, though no person was killed.

On Saturday, in company with the Mayor of Chicago, the Prince of Wales visited one of the great grain elevators, and subsequently drove through the city. In the afternoon, after exhibiting himself to the people on the balcony of the hotel, he took a special train for Dwight's Station, where he proposes to spend the time until Wednesday in hunting.

Mayor Wood has addressed a letter to the Croton Aqueduct Board, calling attention to the unprotected condition of the pipes conveying water over the High Bridge. The Commissioners reply that the work was suspended, May 16, on account of objections raised by him.

At Chambers of the Supreme Court, before Justice Ingraham, the Health Warden cases of Adams vs. The City, and Hoyt vs. The same, were on Saturday disposed of—the motion to vacate the judgment being denied in both cases, with $10 costs. The Cheever Church case was submitted to the [illegible] Justice. In the Superior Court, at Special Term, Justice Pierrepont denied the motion for an injunction and Receiver in the case of Hetzel vs. Harmann et al., managers, &c., of the "Volks Garten."

The Stock Market closed firm on Saturday afternoon, particularly on New-York Central and Erie. There was also a good demand for Rock Island, with a recovery of ¼ ℔ cent. in the previous decline. Money and Exchange closed steady.

With heavy receipts, the principal kinds of Breadstuffs declined, and a fair business was transacted at the reduced rates, the markets closing in favor of buyers. Less activity was discernible in Provisions, Groceries, Cotton, Oils, Metals, Hides, Hay and Tallow. Hops were in good request. Other branches of trade exhibited no remarkable changes. There were 461 vessels of all classes in port, including 17 advertised for Liverpool, 7 for London, 3 for Glasgow, and 7 for Havre.

Our Foreign Impolicy.

From the South American intelligence, to be found in another column, we ascertain the claims of the United States upon Peru to be as far as ever from settlement. The story of wrong upon which the claims rest is an old one, so old as to require perhaps a brief restatement. At the close of 1857, Gen. Vivanco, who is in a state of irrepressible revolt against the Government of Peru, made himself master of the Guano Islands, whither came in January, 1858, two American vessels, the Georgiana and the Lizzie Thompson, to obtain loads of the manure. Dealing, as they were warranted by the laws of nations in doing, with the authorities they found there, the masters of the two vessels took from Vivanco licenses to procure loads, and were in the act of completing their cargoes when a Peruvian war steamer boarded them, turned the men loose upon the high seas in rafts and without provisions, and deposited the captains in prison at Callao. The two brigs were confiscated.

The subject was promptly brought to the notice of Secretary Cass, who directed Mr. Clay, our Minister Resident at Lima, to make urgent demands upon the Government of Gen. Castilla for indemnity. The demand was at once refused. Subsequent negotiations both at Lima and at Washington have failed to move the resolution of the Peruvian Ministers, who rely upon the averment that the license of Vivanco to the skippers was worthless, and that foreign bottoms were subject to all the penalties inflicted in the case for proceeding without a valid and sufficient license. Gen. Cass has justly insisted upon the well-established canon of international law, that for all wrongs done within the territory of a government recognized by us, that government is answerable, and that our merchants are, by the same code justified in carrying on their commerce in articles not contraband of war, with any authorities they find established at a particular port. So well recognized are these principles, that our Government, declining to submit them to arbitration, some months ago dispatched an ultimatum requiring instant satisfaction or a warlike alternative. No satisfaction has yet been given, and no movement in the direction of the threatened alternative has been made. A final answer has been withheld, upon one plea after another, by Gen. Castilla, his own illness being the last submitted. But in the restored health of the Peruvian President this plea has long since become frivolous; and still Mr. Clay has not demanded his passports, and still no vessel has been sent to menace Callao. The Peruvians obviously regard our threats either with incredulity or derision.

It is through this indecisive, halting, timorous spirit, that our Government has obtained the character of lacking a foreign policy. France, for a mere insult to its flag, an apology for which was refused, sent a single war-steamer, the appearance of which in Peruvian waters was the signal of every exacted concession. It is because we present claims unsupported by strenuous backing, demonstrative of our national interest in the matter, and of our national determination to have justice as a mere matter of abstract right, that we traverse the world without respect, and our adventurous seamen, whether among the Dutch monopolists of the East Indies or in dealing with the miserable guano diggers of Peru, are the safe subjects of plunder, imprisonment, and persecution. For any change of this degenerate and ruinous impolicy it is not wise to look to any period prior to March 4, 1861.

Nominations for Judges.

The system of an elective Judiciary, it is well known, has been undergoing a pretty severe test in the City of New-York. However satisfactory its workings may have been in the "rural districts," there can be no doubt that here many men have been led to doubt whether it were not better to return to the old system of appointment. The abuses which have appeared in the administration of our criminal laws, the comparative impunity of ticket swindlers, gamblers, shoulder-hitters and kindred criminals who happen to be active in the party organization of the ruling powers; the use of the power of the Judiciary to aid political maneuvers; the lowering of the tone of the Bench of our civil courts; the slight difference which the character and fitness for the post of any judicial candidate makes in the vote cast for him by his party; all these things have gone far to bring about a change in public sentiment on this question, and now-a-days many men may be found among all parties who, seeing these evils, are not slow to express their opposition to the system of an elective Judiciary as the source from whence they spring.

We doubt, however, whether the evils should not rather be charged upon our system of primary elections and the inattention of our best citizens to political matters, which seem to produce the same results in other departments. But neither the system of an elective Judiciary, nor that of primary elections, can be done away with at present, and it becomes good citizens, therefore, to do all in their power, to diminish the evils attendant upon those systems, as long as they exist.

We call the attention of Republicans especially to this subject. Their Judicial Convention is soon to meet to put forward their candidates by the side of those already put in nomination by the two branches of the Democrats. Their platform is too elevated, their claims for themselves too high, to allow them to neglect this point. The aims which they propose for national affairs will not allow them to be careless or unfaithful in the administration of local affairs, and the ticket which they should propose for the judicial offices now in the gift of our people, should be one which should challenge scrutiny and give to all assurance that by its election the public interests would be protected, the dignity of the Bench enhanced, justice promoted everywhere, and all influences for evil checked and overthrown. No personal influences should affect their choice. The only thing to be looked at should be the character of the candidate, his standing before the people, and his freedom from "entangling alliances," which often work more ill than is known. There will be no doubt men in the Convention who will urge the selection of this man or that, though he is not quite so good a man as some others, because he can carry votes in this Ward or in that locality. No such arguments should be listened to. A high character will secure more votes throughout the City than can be gained by listening to any claims of local influence.

And let them understand, also, that this course is the sure one to win votes for their whole ticket. There are many men who are carried by strong local tickets, without having much interest in the larger questions of the day. And we commend to the Republicans of this City the example of those in Kings County, whose nomination of G. G. Reynolds, Esq., for City Judge, will help them much on their whole ticket.

On looking over the list of the delegates to the Convention we see many good names. To such men as Mr. Evarts, Mr. Field and Mr. Ketchum, as Judges Edmonds, and Mitchell and Peabody, we need not urge these considerations. We only urge them to be present and use the influence which they have, carefully and unitedly; and upon the other members of the Convention we urge an honest endeavor to put up men whose election would be best for all the people. They may be sure that in that direction lie also the best interests of the Republican Party.

Garibaldi.

In contrast with all that we have gained upon our fathers, by the rapid and almost indefinite multiplication of the facilities of human intercourse and of the dissemination of knowledge, one is sometimes tempted to set the unquestionable fact that the very abundance of the sources from which information pours in upon us, and the uninterrupted force of the tide in which it flows, tend to deaden our sensibility and to deprive us of those thrilling emotions of interest and delight in which our ancestors found a compensation for what we now regard as the intellectual "short commons" of their times. Great revolutions, stupendous battles, catastrophes of all kinds, overcome us now like Summer clouds, "without our special wonder." When we read the language of those who lived when Columbus opened a new world to mankind, or in still later days pursued with awe-struck eyes the colossal movement of the French revolution, "strange stories of the deaths of kings," and the eagle flight of the first Napoleon from Marengo upwards to that crowning scene at Tilsit, when all the monarchs of the Continent assembled in the anteroom of the great conqueror's tent, we cannot easily persuade ourselves that the day of great things has not forever passed, and that we ourselves are not living in the decadence of time.

The creation of a new world of commerce; the rise of nations like California and Australia from the waste of almost untrodden continents; the thunders of war waged on a scale and with machinery before unknown to history, these have all gone by before us in so swift and crowded a panorama, that we have scarce drawn breath to measure their march, to mark their majestic grandeur, or to divine their vast and secular consequences yet to come. How calmly at this very moment, in comparison with the epic splendor of the story, is the whole world watching a career unexampled since the sword of Washington was sheathed in victory, and a hero worthy to stand forever by his side! We accept the devotion, the usefulness, the magnanimity of Garibaldi as if they were the merest incidents of every day, and follow him on the electrical line of his patriotic miracles, as if the annihilation of tyranny were no more moving than the rise or fall of stocks, and the liberation of a whole race but a stirring incident to dash our morning coffee with a spice of added zest. Yet where in truth are we to look for a more amazing, a more glorious page in all the records of our race than this which Italy has added to her golden book of fame, in less time than many of the world's barren conquerors have given to the destruction of a populous province or the scattering of a mercenary army?

Six short months ago nine millions of Italians were chafing madly but silently against the barriers of a brutal despotism which all the policy and diplomacy of the world seemed bound in a common league to fix hopelessly around them. Then men bewailed the misery of Sicily and of Naples, condemned to the Bourbon sceptre, with all its terrible meanings of public degradation and private agony, while their brother Italians of the North were basking and moving in the open day of freedom and of victory. Whence could deliverance come to them? With his disciplined army, with his inherited system of despotic functionaries curbing all the land, a spy in every street, a sbirro watching every house, with his powerful navy circling all his coasts, and more than all, with conservatism everywhere his friend, if not his well-wisher, who was to shake young Francis of Naples from his seat? France had made peace, and spared him in her hour of triumph. England despised but could not interfere with him. Sardinia, the natural sword of the suffering Italian people, must be chained in her scabbard, that the Pope might be at rest in Rome, and Europe pursue her industries in peace. The welfare of all the world beside, so ran the odious sophistry of statesmen, must be fortified and secured by the despair of these unhappy millions.

To one man alone the necessity of all this was no necessity, but a hideous mockery and delusion. To one man's fearless faith in justice and the right, all these cruel "reasons of State," playing the sentinel at the palace-gates of Caserta, and over the prison-doors of Ischia, were but cobwebs and films, to be brushed away with one strong blow of a determined hand. Garibaldi saw that Italy stretched from the Alps to Mount Etna, and that the right which was right at Turin was right at Palermo also. Strong in this vision, intolerant of all the skepticisms of self, and all the terrors of time-serving, Garibaldi weighed the seeming strength of the Neapolitan wrong against the real strength of this large Italian right, and fearing nothing from the issue, trusted Heaven, and himself, and the Italian people. The end of his great career, thus begun, is not yet, but are we to await that end before we recognize in the vast contribution of nobleness which the very beginning of this career has made to the instincts and the emotions of our time, the greatness of the man himself, and the imperishable glory he has won?

Master to-day of Sicily and of Naples, only that he may make them, with all Italy, masters of themselves, Garibaldi has taken his place in the foremost rank of men; and the age which has seen this one man dare and do, need turn nowhere in the Past for high example and exhaustless inspiration.

Fernando the Facetious.

"His Honor" the Mayor continues to give periodical proofs that he retains a very fair share of that useful quality which, in newsboys or hackmen, would be termed impudence, but which, when displayed by great public functionaries, is usually termed audacity. His last display of it fortifies the claim he has already so often put forward to the character of wag, as it bears the strongest resemblance to a bad joke. Our readers may remember that the work of laying the new pipe in the Aqueduct at High Bridge was interrupted, owing to "His Honor's" refusal to countersign the warrant for the payment of the expenses of the work. This bit of interference was simply a preliminary to the execution of a scheme for the removal of Messrs. Craven and Tappan, the engineers, because they had not shown themselves sufficiently pliant in the matter of allowing the conversion of the employes of the Croton Board into His Honor's political tools. The scheme has failed, as our readers know, owing to His Honor's total inability to prove a single charge of the many which he made against these gentlemen; but during the four months occupied by the quarrel and investigation, the water-pipes now in use on the aqueduct, which had to be stopped preparatory to putting down the new one, have lain exposed to the weather, all owing to the Mayor's obstinate refusal to let the work proceed, until he had got rid of Messrs. Craven and Tappan. In the interval the Board have frequently drawn attention to the danger of allowing these pipes to be exposed to the frost, and have three times urged it on that of the Mayor, and have announced their intention, in case "His Honor" carried on his opposition till the Winter set in, to place a temporary wooden roof over them as a measure of precaution. "His Honor," now finding the public indigation becoming pretty strong, has addressed the following humorous epistle to the President of the Board:

> Mayor's Office, New-York, Sept. 21, 1860.
> To Thomas Stephens, Esq., President Croton Aqueduct Board:
>
> Dear Sir: I have been directed, by his Honor the Mayor, to call the attention of the Croton Aqueduct Board to the unprotected condition of the pipes conveying water over High Bridge. The pipes in question have been stripped of their covering, and have been left in that situation, exposed to injury from the weather and other causes of danger, through the neglect of the engineers or other persons in charge. In view of the approach of the season when frost may be apprehended, the Mayor earnestly calls upon the Board to take measures for the suitable protection of these pipes. If this is not taken into the consideration of the Board, it may involve the calamity of interrupting the supply of water to the city. I am, respectfully,
>
> J. B. AULD, Clerk.

Messrs. Craven and Tappan, the engineers, however, clearly did not perceive the point of the joke, inasmuch they have replied seriously, as follows:

> Croton Aqueduct Department, Sept. 22, 1860.
>
> To Hon. Fernando Wood, Mayor:
>
> Sir: In answer to your communication of the 21st inst., the Croton Aqueduct Board beg leave to say that the work on the High Bridge was suspended on the 16th of May on account of objections raised by you; that on the 31st of May the Board addressed to you a letter, calling your attention to the necessities of the case, and urging you to say whether you would countersign the warrant for the expenses incident to this work; that no reply having been received, the Board again wrote to you on the 20th of June, urging you by every consideration of public good to some definite action in the matter, and giving you the same information in regard to the condition of the bridge which you now give to this Board; and that, as this letter also was unnoticed, the Chief Engineer, on the 28th of June, called on you to represent personally the condition of the bridge, and urge you to that action in the matter which the public necessities demanded.
>
> The Board now beg to ask whether your communication of yesterday is to be construed by them into an assent on your part to countersign the warrant necessary for the prosecution of the work.
>
> The Board further state, that during the time the bridge has been in the exposed condition in which it has been necessarily kept in consequence of your action, no care or vigilance has been wanting on the part of the Board or its engineers in protecting the pipes, and guarding against the dangers to which their condition exposed the City. This care and vigilance will be exercised so long as may be necessary.
>
> Accompanying this communication are copies of the letters referred to above.
>
> THOS. TAPPAN,
> A. CRAVEN,
> Croton Aqueduct Board.

Although "His Honor" is rather prone to indulge in absurd drolleries of this sort, the only prank of his that was quite so comical as this one, was the lamentation he made over the unprotected state of the City in 1857, when he was retaining half the police force in a position of hostility to the law, and using it for the confusion and embarrassment of the remainder. We like a cheerful frame of mind as well as anybody, and highly commend the practice of looking at things from a humorous point of view, but persons in His Honor's position may readily carry the practice too far. "There's some things," as the Irishman remarked, "too serious to joke about, an' praties is won o' them." Facetiousness is all very well at the proper time and place, but when it consists in endangering the water supply of the City for four or five months, for the purpose of raising a laugh against the Aqueduct Board, it degenerates into unseemly levity. Besides which we must remind his Honor that berating a man for falling out of his hammock and making a noise after having yourself cut the rope at his head, is an old and well-known middy's joke, and if he attempts any further imitations of it he will lose even his reputation as a dull and mischievous jester.

Spain as an American Power.—That favorite dream of the American Democracy—the annexation of Cuba—seems to have vanished into empty air, and the boastful programme of the present Administration remains unaccomplished in this as in other particulars. Spain is rising in the world, and as she rises, she assumes a haughtier and more dictatorial attitude. Never at any time disposed to sell the ever-faithful island, she now spurns the mere mention of such a bargain with contempt.

She has lately intervened between the contending parties in Mexico; and she is exhibiting, in more ways than one, her determination to reassert her pretensions as an American Power. We learn, by the last arrival from Havana, that some 400 Spanish soldiers, with an abundance of military supplies, have been lately landed in Santo Domingo to establish in that Republic on a firmer basis the foothold of Spanish power and Spanish policy. A journal advocating Spanish views has also been started there. This certainly looks as though Spain contemplated an enlargement instead of any diminution of her West Indian possessions. Mr. Buchanan should let this fact appear in his next Presidential Message as an explanation why he has been unable to fulfill his promise of annexing Cuba to the United States.

The Coolie Trade.—Statistics of the coolie trade with Cuba show that up to the 18th of December, 1859, there had been 42,501 Chinese coolies landed at the different island ports. Between that date and the 12th of August last, 5,569 additional coolies were landed out of a total of 6,069 shipped, showing a mortality of nearly ten per cent during the passage. While the trade in Chinese coolies exhibits this great mortality, it is quite impossible for the Government of the United States to lend it aid or countenance. The distinction that is drawn between this kind of "immigration" and the African Slave-trade is, practically, no distinction at all. Lord John Russell, who has been endeavoring to induce our Government to support coolie immigration as a means of suppressing the Slave-trade, knows perfectly well that the one is quite as immoral as the other. We are perfectly willing to admit that the coolies taken to British Islands are much more humanely treated than those taken to Cuba, but this fact does not effect the argument. The United States Government cannot countenance coolie immigration without giving direct support to the Spanish trade; it can draw no invidious distinctions between that and the British and French schemes. We have enough kindred sins of our own to answer for without being made responsible for the iniquities practiced under the cloak of "coolie immigration."

Amusements.

Fashion has fled from the watering-places. Newport might at this moment make an opening scene for one of James' novels, "the solitary horseman" being a favorite figure on its beach. The hotels are full; yet has it been a dreary week on the whole for the drama and for song.

In the world of music, the war of the rival roses still rages. For another week Signor Servadio hangs his banner from the walls of Niblo's Garden, which has now become like the Cave of Adullam—a refuge for all the discontented spirits of song. Ere the closing of the cave we are promised the production, for the first time in this country, of Pacini's celebrated tragic opera of Medea, in the dramatic and musical rendering of which rôle we are told and can believe that Cortesi is unsurpassably superb. A first appearance is also promised in the person of Signor F. Amodio, brother to the eminent baritone, and doubtless an addition of great weight. We trust he may prove as popular as his brother; for, independent of his mighty voice, it is merry of an evening to see the great baritone endeavor to sustain himself in an erect posture like a bear standing on his hind legs.

At the legitimate Opera House—the Academy of Music—the business in the early part of the week was bad, and the beautiful brow of Max Strakosch was bowed upon his breast in thought, like the celebrated picture of Napoleon at Fontainbleau. The production of the "Sicilian Vespers" was not a happy move. The opera is by no means popular. It is characterised by a total absence of melody and poverty of thought, and the usual resource to conceal these and all other deficiencies—noise, the ever ready and welcome shift of imbecility. Having hardly recovered from the stunning din of big drum and cymbal, the braying of trombones and the lowing of ophicleides, being allowed to listen, on Saturday night, to the dulcet harmonies and flowing melodies of Mozart, was like entering a grove of nightingales after leaving the roar and clang of a smithy. "Don Giovanni" was, with some few exceptions, given splendidly. Fabri was as full of fire, of voice and action as ever, and Colson, by her expressive singing and naive performance, proved herself, as Zerlina, not second to either Piccolomini or Patti. Madame Strakosch is hardly equal to the position occasionally assigned her. She is a charming person, but the conception of the Signora as to how a piece of music is to be executed far exceeds her ability to exemplify it. Ever and anon a vigorous effort may float a tone to the level of your box if close to the proscenium. It would require, however, a very still Summer night to hear her ten yards off, and even then a "scarebeus arboreus major" on the wing would distract the listener sadly. The Commandatore, too, was but feebly enacted, and the supper catastrophe was conducted much after the habits of any Murray Hill citizen's family, where the master is summoned out from the feast with, "Please, Sir, you are wanted." No solemn or imposing chords in keeping with the scene, but a huddling and running, without showing cause, and a disregard of the accessories, quite destructive of operatic illusion. On Monday, Mozart again, and we are to banquet on this

> "perpetual feast of nectared sweets,
> Where no crude surfeit reigns."

And at the close of the week comes French opera, with its light, gay, dancing music—that is, if it is legitimate French opera, for such has always the character of ballet music. The operas of Auber and the present race of writers, where they have not pilfered or parodied the music of Rossini, are little more than ready-made sets of dance tunes. Such is the result the national habits indicate. French dancers and dancing are the best Europe affords. Dancing is the art at Paris, and music bends and yields to it. Wherever French music has aspired higher the composers have been foreign. Gluck was a German; Gretry, Gossec and Mehul were Flemish, and Piccini, Salieri and Cherubini were Italians. Still, at the opera, French music will be a novelty, and doubtless wear for the public a charm and delight. So lift thy head and be of good feather, mighty Max Strakosch. Pretty Patti returns, too, leaving Philadelphia disconsolate.

At the Winter Garden, under the judicious direction of Mr. Jackson, things flow smoothly on an unruffled current of success. Mr. Barney Williams, who has been trading very prosperously on his old stock of entertainments for a few weeks past, has added a fresh commodity of the usual light and pleasant character. The drama is of very slight construction, but as it has in Barney Williams nothing heavy to carry, it does its prescribed duty well—of furnishing a subject to the greatest glutton of laughter. As O'Donnell, the Irish soldier, the ease and enjoyment of Mr. Williams' manner is so infectious, he takes the whole audience so thoroughly into his confidence, and captivates so much by his restless vivacity, address, and off-hand assurance, that every word he accents with a wink or a nod of the head, is received with shouts of enjoyment. To-morrow a new burlesque will be produced, entitled "Prince Doloroso," written by the brilliant Brothers Brough for Mrs. Williams, and produced for the first time in this country. It affords to Mrs. Williams a splendid field for the display of her magnificent locomotives, and those peculiar powers of fascination which have made her, in her line, the most popular of American actresses. We presume these two pieces will carry the week successfully through, and with the week closes the engagement of the Yankee Girl and Irish Boy. Their friends will consider this sufficient notice to attend their parting hours, which they may be assured will be of pleasantness. Week after next they go to Philadelphia, and thence South.

"Dame Rumor, grown garrulous with age," to use the language of Miss Keene's playful but shockingly ungrammatical card, says that the fair lessee, on looking over again her "bright lexicon," has discovered the little word which before escaped her observation. "Our Monkey" has lost its attractive power. The benches through the past week have worn a most lonely look. Decently dressed people to act the part of "brilliant and crowded audiences" extempore, must have lately grown scarce. The truth is, "The Monkey Boy" is a poor piece. Actors may be indifferent as Miss Keene's, from the difficulty of finding better, but a sterling play would not lose its influence so speedily as a novelty, even by such mediocre representation as "The Monkey Boy" receives. Her own charming coquettish ways are not sufficient to sustain a piece. So we are promised a novelty of Tom Taylor's, and Mr. De Walden, Miss Keene's own dramatist, is in the throes of a new original adaptation, we presume from Scribe.

At Wallack's the "Royalist" runs right loyally, and gives promise to do so for a good time. Mrs. Hoey has recovered her diamonds, and the happy sparklers may be seen each night gleaming like satellites above the brilliant orbs they vainly endeavor to eclipse.

At Niblo's has been the feature of the week. Mr. Forrest has appeared. The reception—a perfect ovation—which Mr. Forrest received, proved him to be a representative man. There is something in the huge, unbending, sullen, one-sidedness of his individuality which, in the eyes of the muscular masses at least, identifies him with American nationality. He is like one of those giant gnarled trees of the primeval forest which no tempest can shake. He is physically of that huge mould, too, which gives strength to such popular faith—

> "Thus brawny Cleon bawled the Agora down,

Those very qualities which win him popular affection, however, most unfit him for an actor whose first quality should be mobility. As a representative man, Mr. Forrest is to be respected. But, beneath the plume of Hamlet, he appears not as Mr. Forrest, but as a player, and is to be regarded so. There are many critics of most excellent taste and judgment to whom Mr. Forrest's personation of Hamlet, on Monday night, seemed most excellent. To us it was bull's beef, and without any fat. To us Mr. Forrest's personation of Hamlet was wholly deficient in greatness, and indeed in every intellectual attribute; the expression of his countenance goes no further than a sneer or a scowl of defiance; the spirit of the character is only apparent so far as physical action is concerned, and then it is often misrepresented by the excessive means taken to exhibit it. His conception wants not only spirituality, but individual character and feeling. He exhibits the trappings and suits of tragedy, but "has not that within which passeth show." The profound abstraction and o'erwrought sensibility—the moody waywardness of temper whose sadness breaks off into melancholy mirthfulness while the passionate outbursts of indignation and grief lapse into idle speculation—all the delicate lights and shades that make up the character, are wanting. Mr. Forrest assumes a grave air and drawls out the soliloquies in a funereal tone of affected solemnity which is not only monotonous but becomes tedious; by way of relief he occasionally exchanges lugubrious for ranting declamation. The sportive sallies are delivered with a measured formality, and the sarcastic rebukes are either given with a matter-of-fact heaviness, or else enforced with a coarse sneering expression anything but characteristic of the delicate and high-minded prince. Mr. Forrest's Hamlet is to us an elaborate piece of artifice, overwrought in every part, and tame and lifeless in spite of the coarse vigor and rude energy expended on the performance. The whole action is mechanical, at the same time so forcible as to excite the admiration of those who regard only the externals of stage playing, and can be pleased with a perfect specimen of a bad style. His voice is thick and powerful, but not susceptible of delicate modulations and inflections, defects that exaggerate the abruptness of his transitions from one tone to another, and make more evident the effort with which he draws forth the plaintive note in pathetic passages. His level speaking is also heavy and ineffective, though aiming to be natural and conversational. Still the houses are nightly crowded from pit to dome, and the joyous Nixon threatens "Hamlet" to next May. The next piece, if the public will permit the taking off of "Hamlet," will be "King Lear."

At the New Bowery Mr. Eddy has had his "Hamlet," too, and essayed the lists with Forrest. Next week he plays the "Courier of Lyons." At present he is the pet of the young Bowery. Forrest once was as he is. In time to come he may be as Forrest is now.

At the Old Bowery Mr. Chanfrau, an old favorite in the regions of the East, appears to-night in the "Hidden Hand," supported by Mrs. Leighton, who, now, that Mrs. Wood has left the scene, is the most brilliant and bounding of our soubrettes.

Barnum, with "Joseph and his Brethren," backed by 850,000 curiosities, continues to draw daily and nightly a stream of strangers to his house. Few can pass down Broadway without being attracted by the syren strains which from his balcony woo the wayfarer to a region of inexhaustible delights.

In the sky of the distance shines one bright particular star, Miss Charlotte Cushman. On Monday week she opens at the Winter Garden. When Greek meets Greek, when the intellectual and the physical schools come into conflict, when Charlotte Cushman and Edwin Forrest, both representatives of distinct and rival schools of American art, play at the same time at different theatres—then comes the tug of war. Round the one will be gathered the poets, the artists, the sculptors, all who delight in what is delicate, refined and exquisite in art—round the other the rude mass who love the broad breast, and the coarse vigor, and the riot of strong passion which belong to physical power. As this is the era of muscularity the contest may indicate the public current of the day. It is not, we believe, yet settled in what character Miss Cushman will appear, but there are not a few who would wish to see her in that character which approaches nearest to woman's in its exquisite sensibility and quick transitions of light and shade. The Company at the Winter Garden will be strengthened on her appearance, by the addition of Messrs. Couldock and Dyott, and Mrs. Duffield and Miss Clifton.

"Daddy Rice" is dead. He has been dead, or comparatively so, for many years to the public—dead since the death of Jim Crow—yet the single line in the newspaper obituary, merely announcing his death as though he were an ordinary person, of no interest to the world, will give a moment's pause to hundreds whom he delighted with his drollery. Had he been in his negro zenith, his death would have made a sensation; as it is, so far from "eclipsing the gaiety of nations," it will scarce throw a shade over the merriment of the town. He lived a while on the reputation of Jim Crow, and people laughed at the grotesque figure before them, and the recollection of his past sallies, but at last this source failed. His constitution was broken in its prime. As a private character, "he was no man's enemy but his own." His funeral was attended by all the leading members of the dramatic profession.

Mr. Brougham has obtained an engagement at the Haymarket.

Miss Coombes is playing a very successful engagement at Chicago.

THE PRINCE'S PROGRESS WESTWARD.

He Visits a Grain Elevator at Chicago, and Exhibits himself to the People—Departs on his Hunting Excursion.

Chicago, Saturday, Sept. 22.

The Prince visited one of the immense grain elevators this morning, and then drove through the city.

At 1 o'clock a small crowd gathered in front of the hotel, and, according to the programme published in the papers, the Prince came out and bowed, the people all the while cheering and clapping their hands.

He then drove to the Hydraulic Works, and took a special train at Brighton for Dwight's Station, where he remains hunting until Wednesday.

Earl St. Germains and the minor members of the suite stay here till Monday, and attend St. James' Church to-day.

Dwight Station, Ill., Saturday, Sept. 22.

Lord Renfrew and suite arrived here at 6 P. M. Lord Renfrew is the guest of J. C. Spencer, at whose residence he will remain over Sunday. Mr. Spencer's accommodations not being sufficiently ample for the entire Royal party, the others are the guests of Mr. Roadright and Mr. R. P. Morgan.

St. Louis, Saturday, Sept. 22.

No arrangements have as yet been made for the reception of Lord Renfrew and suite in this city.

A CAR FOR THE PRINCE.

Philadelphia, Sunday, Sept. 23.

A splendid new car, belonging to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, starts for Cincinnati to-morrow morning, for the use of Baron Renfrew. Every arrangement for route and time-table is settled. The train is to be a special one, under the control of the Royal party, and the route is to be via Pittsburgh to Harrisburgh, and thence by the Northern Central Road to Baltimore and Washington. The Baron will have the use of the Royal car to Baltimore, and perhaps to Washington.

Fearful Balloon Adventure.

Albany, Sunday, Sept. 23.

La Mountain, the balloonist, met with a serious accident on his recent voyage from this City. He traveled thirty miles in twenty-nine minutes, and in attempting to land at East Lanesboro', Mass., was caught in a tornado and dashed against a stone wall, knocking him senseless, but breaking no bones. The basket rebounded and was elevated to an equal altitude with the balloon, thus clearing the wall. It was then dragged along the ground at a fearful speed, and, coming in contact with a tree, stripped it of its branches, and tore the net-work of the balloon to atoms. It continued its course some distance when it came in contact with another tree, throwing Mr. La Mountain out, causing the balloon to collapse, and tearing it to tatters. Mr. La Mountain was not conscious for near half an hour, when he was found on the top of a mountain by some men who had witnessed his perilous descent. He was very badly bruised and cut, but not so seriously injured as to prevent his riding to a farmer's house, where he remained twenty-four hours, when he returned to Lansingburgh, reaching home last night. His escape from instant death was most miraculous, as the balloon was driving along at the rate of a mile a minute when he was dashed against the stone wall. He says it was a more fearful and perilous descent than was made when he landed in Jefferson County on his trip from St. Louis.

From Washington.

RETURNS OF THE CENSUS MARSHALS—SUPPLIES FOR THE NAVY.

Washington, Wednesday, Sept. 22.

The census returns are rapidly pouring in from the several Marshals throughout the country, but returns from no one State or Territory have yet been received to indicate the population.

The bids for supplying the several navy-yards throughout the United States with materials have been received and opened at the Navy Department, and the clerks are engaged arranging and classifying them. The bids are generally very low, and the competition immense. Gilbert & Co., of this city, are the heaviest bidders, and are entirely responsible, which cannot be said of all the bidders. The Government frequently loses large sums by the irresponsibility of its contractors, who fail to comply with their contracts.

Missouri Breckinridge State Convention.

St. Louis, Friday, Sept. 21.

A special dispatch to the Republican from Jefferson City says the Breckinridge State Convention has adopted the report of the Committee on Resolutions, which declares:

Whereas, The failure of the Charleston Convention to nominate leaves to the people their choice of candidates and principles; therefore,

Resolved, That we still adhere to the principles of Constitutional Government which the Democratic Party has always upheld, and which, if faithfully adhered to, will perpetuate the Union, and disseminate its blessings equally and beneficently throughout the borders of the Confederation.

The resolutions also reaffirm the platform adopted by the State Convention held in April, declare a steadfast devotion to the platform adopted by the Maryland Institute Convention, and accept Breckinridge and Lane as the candidates of the Democracy of Missouri.

Mr. Thurston, a delegate to Charleston, spoke nearly an hour. The most noticeable feature of his speech was the expression of his belief in Lincoln's election, and the advice to prepare for defeat, after which they would be purged and ready for a Democratic victory.

St. Louis, Saturday, Sept. 22.

Before the final adjournment of the Breckinridge State Convention, yesterday, a resolution was offered, but not acted upon, requiring the electors to vote for any candidate to defeat Lincoln. The electoral ticket was revised, and all the vacancies filled, when the Convention adjourned sine die.

Mr. Douglas in Cleveland.

Cleveland, Saturday, Sept. 22.

Mr. Douglas spoke to-day to a large crowd. The audience from the country was especially large, and the enthusiasm was great. Mr. Douglas remains here till Monday, and then goes to Tiffin, Ohio.

Herschel V. Johnson in Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh, Sunday, Sept. 23.

Gov. Johnson, a Democratic candidate for the Vice-Presidency, arrived here yesterday noon, and was escorted to the St. Charles Hotel by the Democratic Committee of Reception. He was called upon by a large number of citizens. In the evening an immense number of the Democracy assembled in front of the hotel, when he appeared on the balcony. On being introduced to the audience by Judge Shannon, he delivered a speech of an hour's length in favor of non-intervention, which elicited most enthusiastic applause. Several other speakers followed. Gov. Johnson leaves to-night, in the 12 o'clock train, for the West.

The Question of Fusion in Pennsylvania.

Harrisburgh, Penn., Saturday, Sept. 22.

The Douglas State Executive Committee publish a card stating that as much has recently been published on the subject of alleged propositions for fusion in Pennsylvania, the public are informed that the question of fusion has at no time been entertained by that Committee.

Fugitive Slave Case in Ohio.

Cincinnati, Sunday, Sept. 23.

On Thursday last the United States Marshal, accompanied by two deputies and eight or ten men, went to Iberia, Morrow County, Ohio, with warrants to arrest three slaves, brothers, who ran away from Germantown, Ky., about four months since. One negro was captured by the Marshal. After an examination before Commissioner Newhall, he was remanded to the custody of his former master. One of the deputies was set upon by a crowd of sixty or seventy negroes and white men, armed with guns and pistols. His clothes were torn off, his warrant and money taken, and an attempt made to hang and then shoot him. After cutting his hair short, he was allowed to depart without the negro. The other deputy was fired upon when attempting to arrest the third negro, and returned the fire, shooting the fingers off of one of the rioters, but was obliged to leave without securing the prisoner.

Affairs in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Saturday, Sept. 22.

The sloop-of-war Pawnee hauled out into the stream to-day. She will sail down the Delaware on Monday, and await the arrival of Minister McLane.

Purser Abbott, of the Pawnee, applied for a writ of habeas corpus in the Court of Nisi Prius, to-day, to be released from bail on the criminal charge against him, resulting from holding money collected on board the flag-ship St. Lawrence, in 1856, for the redemption of the family of a manumitted slave. Abbott refused to deliver the money until he had communicated with the owners, and is now charged with misappropriating the money. The writ was refused on the ground that the case will soon be tried in the Quarter Sessions.

Robert Crawford, a Scotchman, carpet manufacturer, was found dead last night in a lonely spot in the upper part of the city. He had been shot through the mouth. He was probably murdered. No clue has yet been obtained to the supposed assassin.

Homicide in Quincy, Mass.

Boston, Saturday, Sept. 22.

Edward R. Pope, a farmer, of Quincy, quarreled yesterday afternoon with Francis D. Jortier, a young man in his employ, about wages, and shot him dead. Deceased was 19 years old and a native of Brandon, Vt. Officers are in pursuit of Pope. It is believed that jealousy had something to do with the crime. Pope's wife, however, says he had periodical turns of craziness, which seemed to be governed by the moon's changes, and that he was in one of these fits at the time of the murder. She further states that Fortier was in the habit of replying rather flippantly to Mr. Pope's orders.

Fire-Damp Explosion.

Scranton, Penn., Friday, Sept. 21.

A fire-damp explosion occurred to-day in Bowkley's mine, at the upper end of Pittston. Six men were in the mine, all of whom got out except John Howard, Jr., who, it is feared, is suffocated. The scene is one of wild excitement, the pump being broken and the shaft filling with water.

Later from Havana.

ARRIVAL OF THE BIENVILLE.

The United States Mail steamship Bienville, J. D. Bullock, commander, from New-Orleans the 15th, and Havana the 18th inst., arrived at this port at 4 o'clock on Saturday afternoon.

The Bienville brings a very large cargo, and has made a quick run, although she had a strong [illegible] and heavy sea for twenty-four hours.

There is nothing of general interest from Havana.

Freights are declining in Havana, and shipping has thinned out of late.

On the afternoon of the 18th, about fifteen miles northeast of Havana, the Bienville spoke the United States steamer Crusader, Lieutenant Commanding J. N. Maffitt, from Key West, bound for her cruising-ground off the east end of Cuba.

We are indebted to the Purser of the Bienville for favors.

The Lady Elgin Disaster.

From the Chicago Press and Tribune, Friday.

Up to last night the Coroner had held inquests upon 146 bodies. Besides these, eight bodies have been recovered at Racine and sent to Milwaukee, six were men, one boy, 6 or 8 years of age, and one woman,—two of which were identified as James Rice and D. Weeks of Milwaukee. A large number of the bodies sent to Milwaukee from here as unknown were identified there. Two bodies were also brought into Milwaukee on Wednesday. One, the body of Mrs. Thomas Bohan, found by the Grand Haven steamer. The other was brought in by the schooner Bonesteel, and is the body of a woman about 35 years of age, medium height, stout build, dark hair; had on black silk dress with two flounces, open in front and trimmed with velvet, white cotton stockings, gaiters with no heels on, worked lace collar on the neck, black head-dress trimmed with pink; had in her pocket a white linen handkerchief, a pair of silk mits, and about two yards of black lace trimmings about two inches wide.

Three bodies have been found at Kenosha. No. 1 was buried there, and Nos. 2 and 3 were taken to Milwaukee.

No. 1. A man, five feet six inches high; about 35 years of age; whiskers and small moustache; heavy build; had on blue flannel shirt, and pair of overalls; supposed to have been a deck hand.

No. 2. John Delany, of Milwaukee.

No. 3. Wm. A. Hubby, late of Rochester, N. Y., was in Milwaukee, attending to a law-suit.

Inquests were held at the cemetery, on Wednesday night, on the following bodies brought in by the McQueen:

No. 139. John Sherrod, of Milwaukee, found three miles from shore, one mile south of Gros Point.

No. 140. Unknown woman, supposed to be Mrs. Wilson of Milwaukee, 5 feet 4 inches high; black silk dress, high in the neck, with velvet and fringe trimmings; one muslin shirt, one cotton drilling skirt, cotton drawers, scolloped at bottom; black prunella gaiters with high heels.

No. 141. Unknown man, supposed to be Abraham Corbitt, Milwaukee; 5 feet 8 inches high; leather gaiters, calico shirt, white, with red spots; merino undershirts, black cloth pants, brown hair, inclined to baldness, spare features.

An inquest was held at Evanston on

No. 142. Mrs. Glade, of Milwaukee.

Inquests were held last night on the following bodies brought in by the tug McQueen:

No. 144. Stephen Cuddy, Milwaukee.

No. 145. Unknown man—dark brown hair; white Marseilles vest, cotton shirt, linen bosom, black pants, calf boots; short sandy beard under the chin; no undershirt.

No. 146. Morris Parsons, of Milwaukee, a member of the Milwaukee Light Guard.

The tug will be kept running all the week, and as much longer as there is any probability of finding bodies.

IMPORTANT FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE ADRIATIC.

PROGRESS OF THE ITALIAN REVOLUTION.

Triumphant Entry of Garibaldi into Naples.

The Proposed Sardinian Intervention.

ATTITUDE OF AUSTRIA.

The United States Mail steamship Adriatic, Jas. J. Comstock, Esq., commanding, left Cowes at 8 A. M. of the 13th inst., having been detained at Havre twenty-four hours, for want of water in the harbor, and arrived at this port at 12½ o'clock this morning. She brings 272 passengers and 480 tons of merchandise.

The Adriatic has encountered strong westerly winds and heavy head sea, during the greater part of the voyage.

The Etna arrived at Queenstown on the 10th of Sept. The North American arrived at Londonderry on the 10th. The Florida, from Taganrog, for the United Kingdom, with wheat, which struck on a rock near Cape Sakli on Aug. 17, is reported to have been abandoned by her master, Kertsch, Aug. 21.

Sept. 13, at 7:15 P. M., off the Lizard, passed steamship Bavaria, bound up the Channel.

Sept. 21, lat 43° 30′ N., lon. 58° 30′ W., passed bark Glenwood, standing to the eastward.

Sept. 22, lat. 41° 15′ N., lon. 63° 40′ W., passed an American ship, bound westward, showing No. 207, third distinguishing pennant Marryatt's signal.

THE ITALIAN REVOLUTION.

ENTRANCE OF GARIBALDI INTO NAPLES.

The following telegrams give the only intelligence yet come to hand relative to the entrance of Garibaldi into Naples, which was announced in a brief dispatch received by the Europa:

Naples, Saturday, Sept. 8.

The joy is intense.

A Provisional Government has been formed.

Naples is tranquil.

Naples, Sunday, Sept. 9.

Garibaldi has entered Naples alone. Great enthusiasm prevails. He has discovered a National Committee illegally constituted, and has ordered the Prefect of Police to punish its members.

Garibaldi has consigned the fleet and the Arsenal of Naples to the charge of Admiral Persano, and proclaimed Victor Emanuel as King of Italy.

The Dictator has confirmed Romano as Minister of the Interior, and appointed Arditi Director of Police; General Cosenz Minister of War; and Pisanelli, Minister of Justice.

The capitulation of the forts is expected to take place to-morrow.

Marseilles, Tuesday Evening.

Letters received from Naples to the evening of the 8th inst. state that the Sardinian flag was flying from all the forts. Before Garibaldi's entry into Naples the Sardinian Admiral had threatened to fire upon any Neapolitan vessel which should attempt to proceed to Gaeta. Garibaldi had found an immense quantity of war matériel, and 80,000,000 lire in the bank. A Te Deum had been celebrated in the Cathedral by Father Gavazzi, the people shouting "Hurrah for Victor Emanuel!" "Hurrah for Garibaldi!" The people were armed, some even with pikes and sticks.

General illuminations had taken place.

The Papal Nuncio, the most of the Ambassadors, and Count Trapani had followed the King to Gaeta.

The King had appointed Signor Ulloa, brother of Gen. Ulloa, as his Prime Minister, and had issued a proclamation.

After the flight of the King a great rise took place in the public funds.

THE FLIGHT OF THE KING.

The Ex-King of Naples was still at Gaeta at last accounts. There was some doubt as to his ultimate place of refuge. The Cabinets of Vienna, Munich and Dresden have advised him to take refuge in Germany and not in Spain.

THE PAPAL STATES AND SARDINIA.

The Paris Patrie contains the following:

"The Piedmontese have not yet entered the Papal States. The reports concerning the revolutionary movements in the Marches and Umbria are exaggerated.

Rome, Saturday, Sept. 8, (viâ Marseilles.)

A panic prevails here. M. Merode has left for the Neapolitan frontier. The town of Frosinone has been declared in a state of siege. The news of an insurrection at Ponte Corvo has been confirmed. Sardinian troops are advancing through Tuscany and the Romagna, to be in readiness to enter the Papal States. Gen. Lamoricière has concentrated his troops at Spoleto, and has denied the alleged order of the day in which he was said to have directed his soldiers to plunder any town which should rise in insurrection.

September 9.

Gen. Pianelli has arrived here to announce to the Pope the retreat of the King of Naples to Gaeta.

Monsignor Merode, with 200 gendarmes, has proceeded to Frosinone, where 5,000 workmen engaged on the railways threaten an outbreak.

The Piedmontese troops have arrived at the frontiers of the Roman States.

The Papal troops have left Pesaro and Sinigaglia.

A French regiment arrived at Rome to-day.

The Marquis Simoni has been appointed Chief of the Government at Benevento; and Prignani, a man of the lower orders, as Chief of the Government of Ponte Corvo.

Bologna, Monday, Sept. 10—Evening.

The town of Urbino has been fortified. The Provisional Government has proclaimed the annexation of the province of Urbino to Sardinia, amid shouts of "Long live Victor Emanuel!"

The Papal troops are discouraged, and are retiring. They offer no resistance, but commit acts of ferocity on their passage.

A state of siege has been proclaimed at Fano, Sinigaglia and Pesaro.

Paris, Monday evening.

The Patrie publishes a telegram from Turin, stating that, on the supposition that Piedmont would decide upon sending a Sardinian corps d'armée into the Papal States, the different Powers have addressed energetic representations to Sardinia, declaring that the Pontifical Government has afforded Piedmont no pretext for this rupture.

"It is not known," says the Patrie, "whether this attitude of the Powers has modified the resolution of the Sardinian Government. Up to the latest dates, however, no Sardinian troops had crossed the Roman frontier. Some isolated bands not belonging to the regular army had alone entered the States of the Church."

The same journal adds: "A state of siege has been proclaimed at Ancona. The King of Naples is still at Gaeta, and it was reported that he would shortly embark for Spain."

THE ATTITUDE OF AUSTRIA.

The Turin correspondent of the Paris Débats writes as follows:

"Of course, every one asks 'What will Austria do?' I am not able to say, and my opinion, moreover, is that these questions can only be resolved by facts; but the uncertainty will not be of long duration.

Kossuth and Klapka are both at Turin. They live very retired. Kossuth leaves in a day or two for London. Count Teleky is also here."

A letter from Genoa, of the 4th, in the Nord, says:

"We are on the eve of great events, and I trust poor Italy will come out victorious, but Piedmont fears (rightly or wrongly) a determined attack from Austria. Confident hopes are placed in France, either as a powerful support, or, at least, for non-intervention."

Another letter, dated Turin, Sept. 7, says:

"The double concentration of troops at La Cattolica and Arezzo will comprise sixty thousand men. The most important is that at Arezzo, which will consist of forty thousand men. Each day reinforcements arrive at Arezzo from Genoa. It is believed that the King will take the command in person. Generals Cialdini and Della Rocca are indicated as second in command, while others mention Fanti. Nothing positive is known about these appointments; however, it matters little. A war with Austria is looked upon as imminent. It is reported that Austrian troops have crossed the Po, near Mantua. Though still on their own territory, this is looked upon as a menace."

It is asserted that the Austrian troops have been concentrated on the extreme frontier of Venetia, facing Modena and the Romagna.

Vienna, Sept. 11—Evening.

Whatever may take place in the States of the Church, the attitude of Austria will be purely defensive as long as her Italian frontiers are not invaded. All military preparations which are being made at present have no other object than that of energetically repelling any eventual attack.

FRANCE.

Paris, Monday, Sept. 10.

The Moniteur, in a telegram from Marseilles, states that brilliant fêtes have taken place there in honor of their Majesties.

The Constitutionnel, in an article signed by Grandguillot, speaking of the intention of Sardinia to intervene in the States of the Church, says: "We should grieve to see Piedmont accomplish an aggression which would incontestably separate her from the Imperial policy."

France, being the protector of the Pope at Rome cannot but disapprove that any armed assistance should be given to the insurrection in the provinces.

We hope Piedmont will not renounce the principles of respect due to international right, which alone can preserve our alliance with her.

We also trust that the King will avoid a political fault which would be a misfortune for Italy.

Paris, Monday Evening, Sept. 10.

The Patrie publishes a telegram from Turin, stating that, on the supposition that Piedmont would decide upon sending a Sardinian corps d'armée into the Papal States, the different Powers have addressed energetic representations to Sardinia, declaring that the Pontifical Government has afforded Piedmont no pretext for this rupture. It is not known, says the Patrie, whether this attitude of the Powers has modified the resolutions of the Sardinian Government.

Up to the latest dates, however, no Sardinian troops had crossed the Roman frontier. Some isolated bands not belonging to the regular army had alone entered the States of the Church.

The Times' Paris correspondent says: "The general state of trade in France remains unchanged, merchants and speculators being more occupied in watching the march of events in Italy than in making entries in their day-books."

Both wheat and flour declined in price in the Paris market last week, but particularly flour. The prices of wine are advancing.

GERMANY AND RUSSIA.

Paris, Tuesday.

The Patrie of this evening says:

"It is positively stated that an interview between the Emperors of Austria and Russia and the Prince Regent will take place."

Vienna, Sunday, Sept. 9.

A highly important official telegram from St. Petersburgh was received here yesterday. In substance it is as follows:

"The Emperor of Alexander, and his Government, desire sincerely perfect reconciliation with Austria.

The good understanding between Russia and Austria ought never to have been interrupted.

The necessary arrangements for a meeting between the two Emperors will be made without delay, and measures will be taken for putting an end to the present state of things, which is no longer tolerable."

TURKEY.

Constantinople, Friday, Aug. 31, (viâ Marseilles.)

The Sultan has ordered the Grand Vizier, Kibrisli Pasha, to terminate his inquiry in the provinces as speedily as possible, and to return to Constantinople, where urgent political business requires his presence.

It is asserted that the Grand Vizier will not stay at Constantinople, but will proceed to Paris and London, with full powers to treat of the most important political questions, and to negotiate a new loan.

Prince Couza is expected here.

Vely Pasha is again in favor with the Sultan, and has been appointed Governor-General of Adrianople.

THE VERY LATEST.

Turin, Tuesday, Sept. 11—Evening.

The King received to-day a deputation from Umbria and the inhabitants of the Marches. His Majesty granted the protection which the deputations solicited, and orders have been given to the Sardinian troops to enter these provinces by the following proclamation:

"Soldiers: You are about to enter the marches at l'Umbria, to establish civil order in the towns now desolated by misrule, and to give the people liberty of expressing their own wishes. You will not fight against the armies of any of the Powers, but will free those unhappy Italian Provinces from the bands of foreign adventurers which infest them. You do not go to revenge injuries done to me and to Italy, but to prevent the popular hatred from unloosing itself against the oppressors of the country. By your example you will teach the people forgiveness of offences and Christian tolerance to the men who compared the love of the Christian fatherland to Islamism. At peace with all the great powers, and holding myself aloof from any provocation, I intend to rid Central Italy of one continual cause of trouble and discord. I intend to respect the seat of the chief of the Church, to whom I am ever ready to give in accordance with the allied and friendly powers, all the guarantees of independence and security which his misguided advisers have in vain endeavored to obtain from the fanaticism of the wicked sect which conspires against my which conspires against my authority, and against the liberties of the nation. Soldiers! I am accused of ambition. Yes, I have one ambition, and it is to preserve Europe from the continual danger of revolution and war."

London, Wednesday, Sept. 12.

The Doncaster St. Leger—St. Albans, first; High Treason, second; The Wizard, third. Fifteen horses ran.

Consols closed at 93⅛@93⅜ for money, and 93⅜ for account.

Melbourne, Wednesday, July 25.

The troops have been repulsed at Waitard, and retreated with loss of 29 dead and 33 wounded. Reinforcements were immediately sent. Business stagnant.

Sydney, Saturday, July 21.

A severe monetary crisis prevails, and several failures have occurred; total liabilities, £120,000. Severe storms have occurred, and many accidents are reported to shipping.

Shanghai, Tuesday, July 17.

The rebels maintained their positions. The allied troops are healthy. The Taku forts are to be attacked 20th July. Lord Elgin and Baron Gros are at Peeheli. Foreigners are courteously treated by the rebels. A transit duty of eleven taels per bale is to be levied. Trade dull.

Japan, Friday, June 20.

All quiet. Trade progressing.

Financial and Commercial News.

LONDON MONEY MARKET.

London, Monday, Sept. 10.

The English funds opened with a dull tendency this morning, and closed at a decline. The formal announcement of the entire reconciliation between Austria and Russia had no marked influence; but some disquiet was occasioned by the statement that France is determined to uphold the Government of the Pope, and to turn against Sardinia if she should attempt to relieve the people of the Roman States from the pressure of Lamoricière and his band of French, Austrian and other mercenaries.

Consols for money opened at 93⅛@¼, and closed at 93@⅛ and 93⅛@¼ for account.

The demand in the discount market has slightly increased, but is still moderate.

About £64,000 in refined gold was bought by the Bank to-day.

American Securities have further relapsed, especially those of the New-York Central, New-York and Erie, and Illinois Central.

The disputes between Mr. Scott Russell and the Great Ship Company, relating to the Great Eastern, have at length been decided by the arbitrators, Messrs. Hawkshaw, McLean and Fowler, awarding him the sum of £18,000.

The Dundee papers mention one or two small failures arising out of Smith, Sinclair & Co.

THE TEA TRADE.

Sept. 10.—The deliveries in London are estimated for the week at 846,421 lbs., which is a decrease of 3,191 lbs. compared with previous statement.

LONDON MONEY MARKET.

London, Tuesday, Sept. 11.

The English funds opened with continued dearness this morning, but were rather firmer at the close, chiefly from the influence of an increasing supply of money. Consols were first quoted at 93@93⅛, and they left off at 93⅛@93⅜. For the account they left off at 93⅛@93⅜. The news of the death of Mr. Wilson at Calcutta transpired after business hours. In the discount market there has been only a limited demand, and at the Bank the applications was unusually light. In the Stock Exchange the rate is only 1¾@2 ℔ cent.

The final price from Paris was 68f., showing a recovery from yesterday's decline.

There was a rise in the rates on Vienna and Trieste, the movement indicating a further depreciation in the Austrian currency. The quotations for Hamburg and Paris were also slightly higher.

A further reaction has taken place in Illinois Central, the last price being 19 [illegible] 18 discount.

An Anglo-French [illegible] commercial paper, called the Treaty [illegible], is about to be issued in London with, it is said, the approval of the Emperor. It is to be half in French and half in English.

LIVERPOOL COTTON MARKET, SEPT. 10.

There has been an extensive business transacted to-day, and the sales exceed 15,000 bales, 6,000 on speculation and for export. The continuance of fine weather has induced holders to demand higher rates, and prices are ⅛d. ℔ lb. higher than last Friday for American and Surat.

Sept. 11.—The business in Cotton continues on an extensive scale, and to-day's sales amount to 15,000 bales, 5,000 on speculation and for export. Prices are fully ⅛d.@3-16d. ℔ lb. higher than last Friday.

LIVERPOOL CORN MARKET, SEPT. 11.

A better demand was experienced for Wheat than was anticipated, and no further decline was established on the quotations of last market day. Flour was unchanged. Oats gave way 1d. ℔ bushel. Indian-Corn had only a limited inquiry, and must be quoted 3d.@6d. ℔ quarter lower.

LONDON CORN MARKET, SEPT. 11.

The rates were the same as on Friday, or about 2s. lower than last Monday.

LONDON COLONIAL MARKET, SEPT. 11.

Sugar steady. Tea firm. Rice unaltered. Tallow firmer; at 52s. 3d.@52s. 6d. on the spot.

LATEST MARKET NEWS.

LONDON MARKETS.

London, Wednesday, Sept. 12.

Sugar bought readily at fully former rates; refined wanted. Coffee—Clear native Ceylon, 53s.@64s. 6d.; plantation, 68s.@80s.; many buyers. Tea—Not much passing, and full terms obtained. Rice dull; prices unchanged. Saltpetre firm. Tallow—Demand much larger.

Breadstuffs nominally as on Monday.

Liverpool, Wednesday, Sept. 12.

The market opens with a firm tone and good inquiry. Sales 15,000 or more bales. Prices ⅛d.@¼d. above those of Friday last.

FIRE AND BURGLAR PROOF SECURITIES!!!

The recent Fires and Burglaries in this City have fully demonstrated the insecurity of the articles forced upon the public as Safes, more especially those constructed of common cast iron—called chilled iron—to convey the idea that they are superior to so worthless an article. There is not a man in this community, acquainted with the nature of metals, that does not know most positively the utter impossibility of subjecting a mass of cast iron to the action of any great heat without its cracking on the immediate application of water, thereby forming a certain conductor for fire. As to its impenetrability, the harder it is made the more easily broken, and we challenge any and all who use Safes made of that metal, to produce a piece that cannot be easily drilled or broken. Our Alum Patent Fire and Burglar Proof Safes, constructed of heavy wrought angle bars, and lined with the best quality of hardened steel, is the only Safe in the world that has been repeatedly tested, without failing in a single instance to preseve its contents. Call and examine our stock if in want of certain protection for books, papers, plate, &c. These Safes are warranted entirely free from dampness.

HAVING PURCHASED FROM THE NEW-YORK BELTING AND PACKING COMPANY the exclusive right to Charles Goodyear's invention of vulcanised rubber for billiard cushions, we hereby notify the manufacturers and purchasers of billiard tables that we will fill orders for billiard tables made with vulcanized caoutchouc or india-rubber cushions, and for the ordinary caoutchouc cushion, with a license to apply them to billiard tables. Hereafter every billiard cushion of vulcanised rubber will bear, imbedded in each cushion or strip, the name of Charles Goodyear, the patentee, and the date of the patent, and parties purchasing these cushions of us will be required to attach to every table, in a conspicuous place, a metallic plate, (which we will furnish,) bearing these words: "Charles Goodyear's Patent, granted June 15, 1844. Extended June 15, 1858." All parties manufacturing billiard tables with the ordinary vulcanised rubber cushions after this date, or parties using or vending the same without the above stamp, will infringe our right, and will be prosecuted accordingly. PHELAN'S PATENT COMBINATION CUSHIONS can only be obtained on tables manufactured by PHELAN & COLLENDER,

The race will be started at 2¼ o'clock P. M., allowing ample time for the arrival of the cars that bring the passengers that leave Fulton Market-slip at 1 o'clock P. M., and the last train from Hunter's Point. The 2d and 3d av. cars to 34th-st. Ferry connect with all the Flushing Railroad trains to the Course. Club Stand reserved for Ladies accompanied by Gentlemen with Badges. Admittance to the Grand Stand and Field, $1. Badges for the day, $3. To prevent delays, gentlemen are particularly requested to bring the correct change to the Course.

D. C. GRINNELL, Proprietor.

GREAT RACE AT THE FASHION COURSE—TUESDAY, 25th SEPTEMBER. The public are respectfully informed that two boats are now regularly run on the 34th-STREET FERRY TO HUNTER'S POINT, and arrangements are made to render this the favorite route to the Course during the race week. THE FERRY FROM JAMES SLIP is also running according to time table published, and affords the readiest mode of access from down town.

FASHION COURSE.—TO THE PUBLIC.—THE subscriber regrets that he is compelled to announce that Planet and Congaree only will start for the great $20,000 stake, on TUESDAY, Sept. 25, Daniel Boone having met with an accident that precludes the possibility of his starting. There is no doubt, however, but that Planet and Congaree will start, as both are now in fine condition.

D. C. GRINNELL, Proprietor.

SPLENDID HISTORICAL DRAMA,
JOSEPH AND HIS BRETHREN,

Which has been received with IMMENSE APPLAUSE by SCORES OF THOUSANDS, the last two weeks. It is universally conceded to be the best and MOST INTERESTING DRAMATIC ENTERTAINMENT in New-York. The SCENERY is GRAND BEYOND COMPARISON. The GROUPINGS, TABLEAUX, COSTUMES, in short, ALL THE APPOINTMENTS, are on a scale of magnificence and beauty unequaled.

It will be produced with RENEWED PERFECTION and INCREASED SPLENDOR, EVERY AFTERNOON and EVENING THIS WEEK, at 3 and 7½ o'clock.

LAST WEEK but one of that wonderful and extraordinary Roaring and Barking,

LIVING BLACK SEA LION!

The mighty King of the Ocean, the long-supposed fabulous NEPTUNE, the most majestic, terrific, though yet docile, inhabitant of the great Deep, the most interesting creature alive.

LAST WEEK but one, also, of the ALBINO FAMILY!

The most interesting human curiosities ever seen. Their parents were pure Africans, black as ebony, yet they are WHITE as SNOW, their LONG, BUSHY HAIR WHITE as MILK, and their eyes of the most delicate though decided pink. They will both be seen at all hours, as will also

THE STRANGE AND MYSTERIOUS ANIMALS,
THE "WHAT CAN THEY BE?"
TWO IN NUMBER, AND OF DISTINCT SPECIES.

One of which has TWO DISTINCT HEADS, but ONE LEG, and is WEB-FOOTED.

A TATTOOED NEW-ZEALAND CHIEF,
LIVING "WHAT IS IT?" or MAN-MONKEY,

The most interesting, amusing and wonderful creature known, with a bright, intelligent eye, yet devoid of speech and most of the other peculiarities of humanity, though he has the face and hands of a human being, but the limbs and head of the OURANG OUTANG.

THE LADY WITH LONG HAIR,
THE FINEST AQUARIA IN THE WORLD!

Filled with LIVING SEA and RIVER FISH, from various climes, as the beautiful ANGEL FISH, SPECKLED BROOK TROUT, FLYING FISH, LIVING ALLIGATORS, LIVING CROCODILES, &c., &c. The famous LIVING LIGHTNING CALCULATOR, LIVING MONSTER SNAKES, LIVING BABY ANACONDAS, LIVING HAPPY FAMILY, GREAT VARIETY OF NEW WAX FIGURES, Mlle. DEL MONTE, the FAMOUS FORTUNE TELLER.

All these, beside all the Wonders and Novelties of the Museum collection, which embraces not less than 850,000 CURIOSITIES,
From every part of the World, are all, yes,
ALL TO BE SEEN FOR 25 CENTS.

NEWS BY THE ARIEL.

[Concluded from First Page.]

commenced to eject the score or two of owners under the naval officers' grant, and to establish the sole right of his brother, JOHN L. GREEN to the property. The same JOHN L. GREEN who lately so unsuccessfully sued the Vigilance Committee for $50,000 damages. The owners, at first, naturally laughed at the news; but, on a second sober thought, they see that an ejectment suit is never a joke in California—especially when, as in this case, the old Alcalde is still alive, and has made affidavit that when he gave the grant he meant it for JOHN L. GREEN, the claimant, who was not in the country at the time, and who for twelve years never thought to prosecute his claim.

The famous Sherreback case has been reopened, and there is now no hindrance to any further testimony that parties may choose to bring before the United States District Court. Among the arguments urged for the reopening was the clear evidences of stupid blunders on the part of somebody who had tampered with certain important papers that have a bearing on the case. The same MANUEL CASTRO who, on the 25th of November, 18[illegible], signed the Sherreback Grant at Yerba Buena, is proved to have signed, on that same day, at Santa Clara, fifty or sixty miles off, a long order for an election. That a Spaniard should have ridden 60 miles on horseback between breakfast and dinner is probable enough, but that he ever should have signed two long papers in a day at such a distance, involving the necessity of getting the steam up for a literary exercise twice in 24 hours, is too much to believe. True, in one of the traced copies of the order for the election, the Nov. 25 had been altered to Dec. 25, but the wrong Spanish word had been used, and the original "November" is at the head of the document,—pretty conclusive evidence that there has been late and clumsy tampering with the original since the copy was taken for the Government.

GLAUCUS.

Senator Gwin and the Almaden Mine.

In one of his speeches in California, Senator GWIN thus refers to his action on the Almaden mine question, now pending in the California Courts:

"There are many other questions, fellow-citizens, that were acted on or discussed during the last session of Congress, which I shall not now refer to at large.

"Among others, I have seen criticized an amendment proposed by me to the Homestead bill, giving to the citizens of this State the right to possess and work the mineral lands of the State without being considered as trespassers. It has been charged that this amendment was intended to dissolve the injunction which had been granted in the Almaden Quicksilver Mine case. I have no concealments on this question, or any other, and I do not hesitate to say that such was, in fact, the object of the amendment. I had been instructed by the Legislature to apply to the proper Department of the Government to have that injunction dissolved. The delegation in Congress from this State decided that the proper Department was the Executive, and we made the application to the President as instructed by the Legislature, but I had very little hopes of success, for the Executive had initiated the proceedings that resulted in this injunction; and as the matter was before the courts I considered it doubtful whether the President would interfere. But I thought it was a dangerous precedent; I differed with the learned Attorney-General of the United States, who is of the opinion that it will not be cited as a precedent for similar proceedings against the occupants of the gold regions of this State. I have in my day seen one Secretary of the Interior recommend collecting a tax, by way of seignorage, from the miners of this State, and another Secretary of the Interior urging the sale of the mineral lands, so that they might bring the highest price—the proceeds to be placed in the Treasury of the United States; and some other Secretary may in time to come, look to this injunction in the New-Almaden case as a justification for instituting proceedings against the occupants of the gold mines of this State. I differ from the Attorney-General in another point in this case. I do not believe that the New Almaden claim is fraudulent, or based upon a fraudulent title. [Loud cheers.] I have known the attorneys in that case for many years, as among the most talented and respectable in the State. With one of them I served in the Convention which framed the Constitution of this State; and we had an honorable competition before the first Legislature for the seat I now occupy in the Senate. I believe these gentlemen incapable of prosecuting a fraudulent claim, and the claim could not possibly be fraudulent without their knowing it. I do not believe any injunction ever should have been granted unless a receiver had been appointed. It has injured the commerce of the State, and deprived our citizens of an important article used in mining, which deprivation would have worked a serious detriment, but for the opportune discovery of other quicksilver mines—discoveries which could not have been anticipated at the time the injunction issued. Hence I offered my amendment to the Homestead bill—to accomplish this in part. But I had another great object in view. It was to declare by act of Congress that the miners in this State—whether engaged in mining gold, silver or quicksilver—on the lands of the United States, were not intruders, but lawfully entitled to pursue their occupation there. [Cheering.]

THE LATE GALE AT NEW-ORLEANS.

Fearful Effects on the Gulf and on Lake Pontchartrain—The Town of Biloxi a Mass of Ruins—Nearly Every House at the Balize Blown Down—Loss of Life.

From the Picayune of Tuesday, the 18th.

The news that come to us from every quarter represent the effects of the gale of last Saturday as even more terrible than had been surmised. The destruction of property known thus far is even greater than that by the storm of the 11th of August, and although we have not heard of as many lives lost, we fear that we will have to deplore many more when our returns are completed.

THE LAKE.

We gave, yesterday, a report of the damage done at Milneburgh. The Pamlico, due last Saturday, only came in yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. She was at Mandeville on Saturday morning, at 7 o'clock, with her passengers already on board, but Capt. HOFFMAN, foreseeing the terrible storm that was brewing, would not leave, and waited at the wharf in hopes of a favorable change. About 10 o'clock it blew so strong that the passengers were put ashore, and the boat ran back to Lewisburgh, where she could get better shelter. She returned to Mandeville yesterday morning early, and arrived safely, as stated.

On that part of the lake coast, the storm was strongly felt, but no damage was suffered.

The Oregon, which left for Mobile at 1 o'clock, in the midst of the storm, got into the Rigolets, where she weathered it, and is reported safe.

The Alabama left her wharf on Saturday afternoon, with many passengers: among others, Washington Fire Company Co. 20, on a pleasure excursion. She returned this morning at 1½ o'clock. Captain Boardman's report is a tale of frightful disasters. He states that on the whole lake coast there is not a wharf or bath house left standing. The villages had not suffered much, but the town of Biloxi is a mass of ruins. "Look at the unseemly pile of ruins left by the late fire in Royal street, from Customhouse to Bienville street," says an eye witness," and you will form an idea of the appearance of Biloxi, as seen from on board the Alabama. The long wharf was covered by nine feet of water, and, in fact, the approach to the late beautiful little town was a mass of water, strewn with pieces of timber and furniture. This gale was considered far worse than the fearful storm of 1855. We only hear of one loss of life at Biloxi, that of a man killed by the falling of Brown's Hotel. We could not learn his name. The Alabama picked up seven men from the schooner Oregon, completely worn out. The schooner is a complete wreck.

THE BALIZE AND THE PASSES.

The tow-boat Junius Beebe, Capt. ANDREWS, came up yesterday and brings another fearful account from the Balize and the Passes. The gale was felt there on Friday night. Nearly every house at the Balize was blown down. Capt. KINNEY, the well known pilot of the New-York and Havana steam-packet ships, together with a Balize pilot, whose name we did not learn, were in GEORGE OSGOOD's coffee-house, at Pass à d'Outre, were washed away and drowned. Mr. OSGOOD's coffee-house and residence were blown and washed away. Mrs. OSGOOD and her children drifted out on a bed, which got caught in the limbs of a small willow tree; there they remained until Saturday morning, when they were rescued from their perilous situation.

The only buildings left standing at Pass à l'Outre, are the Pilot Boat Association house, Riley Knight's house, and the telegraph station.

The ship Galena, Capt. LOWRY, hence for New-York 12th inst., was blown ashore inside the Pass, and lies in seven feet water at her bows, and four at her stern, she drawing seventeen feet.

The ship Sheffield, Capt. RICHARDSON, hence for Leghorn, was driven ashore, and lies on her beam ends. She has five feet of water in her hold.

Captains LOWRY and RICHARDSON came up to town to get assistance, and the ships will probably be got off to-day, and brought back to the city.

The Galena was cleared by A. COHEN. Her cargo consists of 1,400 bales cotton, 224 hhds., 51 bales and 52 half-bales tobacco, 156 bales rope cuttings, 47 bales skins, 64 moss, 1,886 hides, 46 pieces wood, and 194 packages merchandise.

The cargo of the Sheffield, cleared by CAMMACK & CONVERSE, consisted of 650 hhds. tobacco, and 16,800 staves.

A schooner went down under the Galena's bow, supposed to be a pilot-boat. The men on her were probably lost.

The schooner Isaac Toucey, HANSON, hence for Gracios à Dios, Honduras, cleared by GOLDENBOW & LESPARIA, was blown ashore, and lies high and dry in the marsh; together with the brig West Indian, Capt. THOMPSON, for St. Pierre, Martinique.

Capt. HANSON, of the Toucey, makes the following report: On Friday morning last, as he was near Pass-a-l'Outre, bound out, the wind commenced to blow from the northeast, which shortly increased to a violent gale. The schooner was riding at anchor sixty fathoms on one chain, and forty-five fathoms on the other. At 7 o'clock next morning the wind shifted, and vessel commenced to drag, and narrowly escaped running foul of ship Galena, which was at the time ashore. Both chains having given way, vessel went ashore and worked herself up into four feet water, where she now lies. He came to town this morning to procure assistance. Capt. HANSON also reports that the brig West Indian went ashore at half-past four o'clock the same morning. She was subsequently towed into the river yesterday morning by the tow-boat Ivy.

The West Indian subsequently went to sea.

The steamship Galveston was slightly damaged by a collision with the Sheffield, and went ashore. The tow-boats St. Charles and Ocean were also driven ashore; also the brig Leghorn, in ballast.

The ship J. Webster Clark, KOPPERHOLDT, Master, hence for Liverpool, went to sea yesterday.

The pilot-boat Cornelian went ashore, and was badly damaged by collision with the Galveston.

Besides Capt. KINNEY, we hear of the loss of a son of Mr. OSGOOD, and JOHN ACKERMAN, son of one of the Balize pilots. Several fishermen are also reported as lost.

The following report, by Mr. J. T. HOLMES, of Algiers, who was at Pass à l'Outre through the whole gale, will be found interesting:

One of the worst storms experienced for many years visited us on the 14th and 15th inst. It was accompanied with hailstones and heavy rain. It commenced on Friday evening, the 14th, and continued until Saturday, at 11 o'clock A. M. The water rose this time six feet or more above high water mark, and washed away nine houses, besides three look-out houses, with boats and sheds.

There were four towboats blown ashore; but two, namely the Junius Beebe and Ivy, got off before the water fell; the other two, the St. Charles and the Ocean, are at present lying high and dry. A ship is ashore inside the bar, and the bark Sheffield is on the bar. The brig Leghorn is high and dry in the marsh; likewise the pilot-boat Cornelia. The steamship Galveston is ashore astern of the Ocean.

The house next to the Light-house, belonging to Mr. GEORGE OSGOOD, was completely washed away, and the family, consisting of man, wife and four children, barely escaped with their lives by securing themselves to floating logs, the father being up to his neck in water, and holding his baby above his head. They were rescued from a watery grave by the crew of the Junius Beebe, the captain of said boat receiving them in a kind and most gentlemanly manner.

A coffee-house and grocery belonging to the same gentleman, in charge of his eldest son JOHN, and a man by the name of KENNEDY, was completely washed away, and the two men are supposed to be lost.

A large flatboat, occupied by the opposition pilots, and their lookout-house, were completely destroyed. A man belonging to the said boat was picked up alive at 11 o'clock A. M.

To the telegraph house no particular damage was done, excepting the kitchen being blown down and the telegraph wire broken.

The Towboat Company's lookout-house was destroyed, and the storm greatly damaged the wharves.

The Association's lookout-house was also destroyed, and the boat-sheds, with all their boats, are gone. All the outhouses and galleries are likewise destroyed.

The flatboat belonging to JOHN CONRAD, and nicely fitted up as a dwelling, was destroyed with all its contents—the furniture alone being valued at above $1,000. Mrs. CONRAD barely escaped with her life. A new building, belonging to the same gentleman, not quite finished, was destroyed.

Mr. LEVINE's splendid large house, more than half finished, was also floated away; and lumber, shingles, &c., ready for building, belonging to Mr. BARTON, all floated off.

The Custom-house received no particular damage, but the four water tanks belonging to it floated away.

Also, another house, not quite finished, near the Custom-house, was destroyed. Two more buildings, belonging to and occupied by fishermen, were destroyed.

DAMAGE AT THE WATERING-PLACES.

From the Delta of the 18th.

The watering-places across the lake were great sufferers by the terrible gale of Saturday. Of these Biloxi was the most ruthlessly dealt with by the elements. Here the markets, hotels, and some sixty other buildings, were entirely destroyed, involving a loss of nearly $200,000. Trees were uptorn like reeds, and swept away, with the fences and everything else upon which the storm had power. The front and rear walls of a strong brick house were completely swept out, leaving the roof supported by the two side walls. The wharves and bath-houses were tossed about like playthings, and their remnants, with the wrecks of several small vessels, lie stranded two hundred yards from shore. The channel-marks and buoys are all washed away. The lighthouse was undermined, and now stands careened over to one side, in too dangerous a condition to allow its further use. At 11 o'clock Saturday morning the gale suddenly rose to such a hight everything gave way before it, and the people rushed out of their tottering houses, and fled back into the country, many of them barely escaping with their lives. It was rumored that one or two were killed by the falling houses, but it was impossible to learn the truth of the rumor. GUS. RICHARDS narrowly escaped with his wife and child, and his fine hotel, with all its contents, is totally destroyed. Washington Engine Company No. 20 went over on the Alabama to pass a day at that place, but were, of course, obliged to return on the same boat.

At Mississippi City the gentlemen's sleeping apartments of both BARNES' and TEEGARDEN's Hotels were swept away, together with several small buildings, and all the wharves and bath-houses. At Ocean Springs the wing of the hotel occupied by the bachelors' sleepings apartments was destroyed, as also several houses. At all the watering-places the wharves and bath-houses were swept away, trees blown down, and the small craft wrecked. Six men were taken off the schooner Oregon, of Pascagoula, by the mail-boat Alabama, just as the schooner was on the point of sinking. The whole coast presents but one scene of general desolation, such destruction of property being unknown since the great storm of 1855. All of the mail-steamers are safe and sound.

DISASTERS FROM THE GALE.

NEW-ORLEANS, Saturdry, Sept. 22.

The ship Mary, at this port from New-York, reports having seen an unknown ship ashore at the outer end of Florida Reef, dismasted.

The schooner Bullrush, from New-York for Brazos, has put into Pensacola leaking.

The schooner Martha, from New-Orleans for Pensacola, is ashore, high and dry, on Half-Moon Island.

Destructive Fires and Explosion in New-Orleans.

FIFTEEN PERSONS KILLED AND MANY INJURED.

NEW-ORLEANS, Saturday, Sept. 22.

KARSTENDECK & CO.'s and other liquor-stores on Tchoupitoulas-street, between Lafayette and Girod streets, were burned last night. The fourth story of KARSTENDECK's store was heavily laden with spirits, which exploded, causing the building on the corner of Lafayette and Tchoupitoulas streets to fall, burying forty or fifty persons in the ruins. Fifteen dead bodies and several wounded persons have thus far been extricated, and an active search is being prosecuted for others. The loss is estimated at $150,000, and is mostly covered by insurance.

A well-built square in the Fourth District was burned this morning. Loss $70,000 to $80,000, mostly insured.

CITY POLITICS.

The Wide-Awake Demonstration.

PREPARATIONS FOR THE PROCESSION—HOW MANY WILL JOIN IN IT—ITS PECULIARITIES AND DEVICES.

Extensive preparations are in progress for the great national demonstration of the Wide-Awakes, to take place in this City on Oct. 3. The General Committee during the past week has met daily at No. 615 Broadway, and is rapidly perfecting its arrangements for the occasion. There is promise that the display will be a much more imposing one than was at first dreamed of. To provide for the expenses of the pageant which are estimated at $20,000, a Finance Committee has been appointed, at the head of which is Mr. SIMEON DRAPER: GEO. W. BLUNT, Esq., Supervisor STUART, JAMES KELLY, and Hon. ABRAM WAKEMAN are his colleagues. Fifteen members of the Wide-Awake associations will assist them in collecting funds. This Committee will hold a meeting at the Metropolitan Hotel during the present week.

The original estimate of the numbers that will probably parade is deemed much below the mark. Since the announcement that 30,000 would participate, information has been obtained by correspondence with different parts of the country, which indicates that the number will exceed fifty thousand. How to provide for so large a number of strangers is a matter of moment with the various Republican organizations. They declare that they will do their utmost to make the visitors welcome; but private hospitality will, of course, be utterly inadequate to the occasion, and the hotels of the City will probably find their accommodations none too extensive for the two or three days including the 3d of October.

Devices to be carried in the procession have been submitted to the Committee of Arrangements. They are of great variety, and very numerous. Prominent among them will be a large ox-team, drawing a platform wagon, on which a tall individual will personate "Honest old ABE," in the act of splitting rails. The First Ward of this City will be represented by fifty boatmen, with a handsomely decorated Whitehall boat, from which fireworks will be exploded as it moves in the procession. The Glee Club of the New-Haven Wide-Awakes will bring a large melodeon, which will be carried on a spring wagon, while the Club follows behind singing favorite campaign songs. A live buffalo, from Kansas, (brought from "Republican Fork,") will have an honorable place with the delegation from that territory. A miniature log cabin, on wheels, will be borne in the procession, and a Minnesota elk, imported for the occasion, will have a place with the prairie delegations. The route of the procession is not yet determined on, but it is the design to have it organized and ready to move as early as 7 P. M.

General J. H. HOBART WARD, the Grand Marshal, who has seen service in Mexico, and is Commandant of the Scott Life Guard, declares that the procession will be seven hours in passing a given point, and that those in the first rank may be at home and fast asleep long before the last division has started from its parade ground.

The Republican State Committee.

The Republican State Committee was in session on Saturday at the Astor House, and, it is understood, made arrangements to aid in the expense of the national Wide-Awake demonstration in this City on the 3d of October. The Central Committee of Wide-Awakes, however, has resolved to see that the requisite funds are forthcoming in case the State Committee does not furnish them.

Progress of Fusion.

The Fusion Committee appointed by authority of the Cooper Institute Union meeting, held a session on Saturday, but could not complete the Union Electoral ticket. The Sub-Committee, having the details of the plan in charge, will report at noon to-day, when it is intimated a ticket will be presented and accepted, calculated to unite the entire Anti-Republican vote of this State.

GENERAL CITY NEWS.

SATURDAY AT THE CENTRAL PARK.—The Central Park was teeming with teams and fairly peopled with people again, last Saturday afternoon. A larger mass-meeting of music's votaries has not been held on the Mall this season. There were fewer strangers, perhaps, and more townspeople there than on any previous day of those consecrated to the concert-loving; for, at this season more than at any other, the travelers and the swallows fly homeward. Gotham is again Gothamite; and Southern, Eastern and Western visitors—the pleasure-seekers that is, not the business-bound—are turning their faces toward the light of their own firesides. There were more elegant equipages, more daintily-attired damsels, more young gentlemen caparisoned entirely regardless of expense, on foot and on horseback, at the Park day before yesterday, than were wont to be there a month ago when it was vulgar to be in town. The horsemen were especially numerous. From a single Riding School on Fifth-avenue, thirty steeds saddled and bridled, went forth. The proprietor endeavored to deter the applicant for the thirty-first from his persistent design of riding horseback on the worst animal in the stable. In vain he showed him his list of prices, assured him that he himself was a charger,—in vain said "nay" full twenty times. The horse was brought, mounted, and led forth into the open street. He plunged, he reared, he pawed the air, and endeavored to jump fences. He was constantly in motion, yet did not progress an inch. He was taken back into the school, and the master promised that he should have a good training. Apparently every equine beast in the City livery stables that would carry a saddle and a man on his back was pressed into the service for an excursion to the Park. Then, the cars were crowded, and hundreds of pedestrians wended their way thither. The highly-respectable performances of the band, the inhalation of fresh air, and a view of the prettiest park scenery in this country, even at this day, amply repaid all who took the jaunt, whatever their means of conveyance.

SUPPOSED TO HAVE BEEN POISONED.—Coroner SCHIRMER was summoned on Saturday to investigate the circumstances attending the death of LOUISA KATZ, a married woman, German, and 35 years old, lately residing at No. 1 Clinton-street. The deceased was taken ill about four days previous to her death, which occurred on Friday last, and was attended during her sickness by Drs. BERN and GRAFF. The physicians did not see anything singular in her symptoms, and gave a certificate to the effect that the direct cause of death was "bilious vomiting and diarrhoea," and the indirect cause "inflammation of the brain and convulsions," appending to the document a note stating that Mrs. KATZ was subject to periodical attacks of aberration of mind. When this certificate was presented to the City Inspector he did not think it exactly regular, and called for an inquest on the body before he would give an order for its burial. Dr. GEORGE B. BOUTON conducted the post-mortem examination, which resulted in the discovery of traces of some mineral poison in the stomach and intestines. JACOB KATZ, the husband of the deceased, testified that his wife had been partially insane for a year, and was much given to intemperance. He admitted that he had often beaten and ill-treated her. Further investigation of the case was postponed, in order to afford time for a chemical analysis of the stomach and intestines.

A DEAD MAN FOUND WITH HIS THROAT CUT.—Between 6 and 7 o'clock yesterday morning, EDWARD SPRING, a watchman, employed at Pier No. 4, North River, discovered the dead body of a man floating in the dock. He secured it to the pier and notified Coroner JACKMAN. Dr. CHRISTOPHER WELTJE made a post-mortem examination of the body and found that the throat of deceased had been cut almost from one side of the head to the other, and that the wound was so deep as to have severed the windpipe and all the principal arteries. The doctor also found a bruise two inches in length on the left side of the head, and the supposition is that the man has been murdered, although in the absence of any testimony as to how the wounds were inflicted, the Jury could not positively assert that such was the case. From the advanced state of decomposition in which the body was found, it is supposed to have been at least four weeks in the water, and its general appearance betokened it to be that of a dock laborer or 'longshoreman. The deceased was about forty years of age. He was 5 feet 8 inches in height, stoutly built, and had dark hair and sandy whiskers. The remains were removed to Bellevue Hospital, where they will be kept as long as the circumstances of the case will warrant, in the hope that they may be identified.

UNFOUNDED CHARGE OF MURDER.—JOHN JACKSON, a locksmith, living in the rear of the drinking saloon No. 142 Worth-street, was arrested yesterday by Officer MCGUIRE, of the Sixth Ward, on suspicion of having murdered ELLEN SWEENEY, a degraded character, with whom he has lived for some time past. The woman, it appeared, died on Saturday evening, and her body exhibited several contused wounds on the head, breast, and arms, which the neighbors said had been inflicted by the prisoner. Yesterday, however, an inquest was held by Coroner JACKMAN, and a post-mortem examination made by Drs. BEACH and WELTJE demonstrated that the injuries in question were not sufficient to have produced a fatal effect, and that the woman had died of softening of the brain, superinduced by intemperance. JACKSON was discharged from custody.

THE SING-SING PRISON LIBRARY.—Twenty-five hundred volumes, to constitute a library for the prisoners at Sing-Sing State Prison, were sent thither on Saturday by Mr. THEODORE TILTON, of this City. These books were received from a large number of private individuals and a few publishers, in answer to his recent appeal for the "Striped Jackets." The donations were chiefly from the State of New-York, and a portion from the New-England States. With one exception, all were forwarded by the Express Companies without charge. Mr. TILTON hopes to receive a large accession to the number of volumes already contributed for the nearly 1,500 prisoners confined there. This is a noble response to the effort of Mr. TILTON. Who will undertake the same benevolent task for the other prisons of the State?

PRINTS OF THE PRINCE.—Every print-shop on Broadway exposes conspicuously a representation of Lord RENFREW, and news-dealers in front of hotels and at street-corners put forward placards bearing inscriptions similar to this: "The Prince for 25 cents." The Prince presented to us by the proxy of these prints is a youth with leaden eyes and shaky knees, apparently perplexed with regard to the propriety of straddling his sheathed sword and "playing horse." H. R. H. must expect during his tour in the United States to see a great deal in print that will do him gross injustice.

FIRES.—The dwelling house No. 146 Varick-street, occupied by JOHN LEWIS, JOHN PARK, and LOUIS FISHER, caught fire on Saturday, about 3 P. M. The building was damaged to the extent of $300, and the tenants lost about $150 worth of property. The house was insured. At nearly the same hour, flames burst from from a row of brick stables in the rear of No. 210 East Fourteenth-street, the property of CHARLES H. SMITH, and occupied by A. GUDE and others. It will cost $250 to repair the damage.

FOUND IN THE WATER.—The body of an unknown man was found on Saturday in the water near Governor's Island. It was taken ashore, and Coroner JACKMAN yesterday held an inquest upon it. The Jury, however, failed to establish the identity of deceased, who was respectably dressed and apparently about 55 years of age. A verdict of death from supposed drowning was rendered.

SUDDEN DEATH OF A VAGRANT.—Early yesterday morning the dead body of a man was found on the sidewalk in Charles-street, near Washington. Coroner JACKMAN investigated the circumstances attending the person's death, and a verdict that it resulted from disease of the heart was rendered. The deceased was recognized by several persons as a vagrant of very intemperate habits.

A SHOCKING OCCURRENCE.—An Eighth Ward Policeman, early yesterday morning, arrested an Irish woman named BRIDGET REYNOLDS, whom he found in the street in a drunken condition. In her arms the degraded creature carried an infant, which died soon after it was taken to the station-house, undoubtedly for want of proper care on the part of its mother.

POLICE COMMISSIONERS.—At a meeting of the Board, on Saturday, no other business was transacted than the appointment of RICHARD KAIG as roundsman in the Tenth Precinct, and the acceptance of the resignation of JAMES MURRAY, Patrolman of the First Precinct.

A RECKLESS YOUTH.—EDWARD C. RICHARDSON, a boy, was yesterday committed by Justice QUACKENBUSH to await the result of injuries which he is alleged to have caused to Mr. HERMAN STEINER, of No. 355 Eighth-avenue, by driving a wagon over him.

Police Reports.

SERIOUS RESULT OF A PRACTICAL JOKE.

On Saturday afternoon, Thomas Hayes, an Englishman, 26 years of age, was stabbed while standing in the liquor store of Nicholas Murray, No. 75 Mulberry-street, by a man named John Hoy, and so severely hurt that his life was despaired of. Hoy, it appeared, went into the bar-room, and being somewhat intoxicated, lay down to sleep on a lounge. By way of a joke, while he was taking his nap, his face was smeared with soot, or some other black substance, and when he awoke and discovered the trick that had been played he was much enraged. Failing to learn the name of the person who had offended him, he determined to have satisfaction of Hayes, who was laughing, with the other occupants of the place, at what they considered a good joke. Accordingly, Hoy seized a knife and rushed upon Hayes, whom he stabbed in the neck, breast and abdomen. Great excitement followed, in the midst of which Hoy endeavored to run away, but he was pursued and taken into custody. His victim was removed to the City Hospital and his wounds are said to be of a very dangerous character. The prisoner was taken before Justice WELSH, to whom he admitted that he had inflicted the violence, and was locked up.

SAILORS CHARGED WITH BURGLARY.

On Friday last, the office of William C. Spader, wharfinger, at the foot of Thirty-seventh-street, North River, was broken into and robbed of several small articles. The crew of the sloop Oak, which lay at the pier close by, were suspected of having committed the burglary, as a disagreement had taken place between them and Spader because he had insisted upon the payment of wharfage for the vessel, and they had threatened to "be even" with him. On Saturday, therefore, the sloop was searched and most of the missing articles were found on board of her. Wm. Delaney, John O'Neil, Thomas Connor and Thomas Dolan, the crew, were consequently arrested, and Justice QUACKENBUSH held them to answer.

A MAN DANGEROUSLY STABBED.

Last evening two men named John O'Donnell and Henry Hinck, both of whom reside at No. 147 Washington-street, entered upon a dispute with reference to a trivial matter, and finally Hinck became so enraged that he stabbed his opponent with a dirk-knife. The wound inflicted is considered very dangerous and the sufferer was removed to the New-York Hospital. Hinck was arrested and locked up in the Trinity-place sub-station.

BROOKLYN NEWS.

MORTALITY.—One hundred and eight deaths were reported to the Health Department during the week ending Saturday last, classified as follows: Men, 25; women, 17; boys, 34; girls, 32. Adults, 42; children, 66; males, 59; females, 49. Sixty-one were under five years of age; five were between five and ten; between 10 and 15, one; 15 and twenty, one; 20 and 25, eight; 25 and 30, five; 30 and 40, seven; 40 and 50, two; 50 and 60, six; 60 and 70, six; 70 and 80 four; 80 and 90, one. Seventy-nine were natives of the United States, 18 of Ireland, 6 of Germany, 3 of England, and 2 of British America. The greatest mortality was among the children by cholera infantum, which caused 20 deaths. Fever carried off 11—six of which were typhoid, four scarlet, and one bilious. Marasmus (infantile), seven; diarrhoea and dysentery, five each; consumption, six. The deaths occurred in the several Wards as follows: First Ward, 4; Second Ward, 2; Third Ward, 3; Fourth Ward, 7; Fifth Ward, 7; Sixth Ward, 18; Seventh Ward, 4; Eighth Ward, 4; Ninth Ward, 8; Tenth Ward, 10; Eleventh Ward, 13; Twelfth Ward, 10; Thirteenth Ward, 2; Fourteenth Ward, 2; Fifteenth Ward, 2; Sixteenth Ward, 2; Seventeenth Ward, 1; Eighteenth Ward, 2; Nineteenth Ward, 3.

BURGLARIES.—The house of N. W. HOLLISTER, on Portland-avenue, was recently entered by burglars and robbed of property, principally silver ware, valued at several hundred dollars. The thieves have not been arrested. The school-room connected with St. Patrick's Church, corner of Bedford-avenue and Hickory-street, was entered a few days ago, and robbed of clothing and books belonging to the scholars in attendance there. Three boys, arrested in the Fourth Precinct, named JAMES SIMPSON, JOHN ROBOSSE and GEO. CHATTERFIELD, were on Saturday committed to answer for the offence. A man named VAN BRUNT was arrested in the Eastern District Saturday, on suspicion of having committed a burglary a few nights ago at the store of E. FERRY, Jr., corner of Fifth and South Sixth streets.

REPUBLICAN ASSEMBLY NOMINATIONS.—The Republican Assembly Conventions were held on Saturday evening, when the following nominations were made:

First District—T. L. McElrath.
Second District—John E. Cammeyer.
Third District—Harmanus B. Duryea.
Fourth District—In this District the nomination was tendered to D. O. Bradley, Esq., who declined to accept it, whereupon the Convention adjourned to Oct. 6.
Fifth District—Lucius C. Andrus.
Sixth District—No nomination.
Seventh District—Geo. C. Fisher.

A PASTOR DISMISSED.—Rev. Mr. Bell, Pastor of the Graham-avenue Protestant Methodist Church, was, at a quarterly meeting of that Society, held on Friday last, dismissed from the service of the Society by almost a unanimous vote. The principal cause of complaint against Mr. BELL was his Anti-Slavery sentiments, which he felt it his duty to express from the pulpit. The Chairman was directed to provide Mr. BELL with a certificate as to his good moral standing, as well as Christian and ministerial character.

ACCIDENT.—D. G. BEVINS, while at work at the Atlantic Basin on Saturday, loading a vessel with machinery, by the slipping of a skid, was thrown with great violence about 14 feet, and landing upon the deck of the vessel he was engaged in loading, received serious injuries. He was taken to the Long Island College Hospital, where his injuries were examined and found not to be mortal, and thence removed to his residence, corner of Bergen-street and Classon-avenue.

DISHONEST SERVANT.—ROSE MITCHELL, a young woman who it is said goes out as "help," so that she can prosecute her profession of robbing with more facility, was arrested before Justice CORNWELL, on Saturday, on several complaints, and committed for examination. The last exploits of the accused were at the residences of Mrs. P. REILLY, No. 109 Nassau-street, and Mrs. CORNELL, No. 85 Adelphi-street, where she bagged clothing, jewelry and silver ware.

HORSE THIEVES.—Horse thieves have again commenced their depredations in the outskirts of the city. Last Friday night a horse valued at $200, the property of S. M. MEEKER, Esq., was stolen from the corner of Bushwick-avenue and Linden-street. Several horses were stolen from different places, just within the city limits, during the last week.

DEATH FROM INJURIES.—WM. PARSONS, twenty-seven years old, resident at No. 54 Willow-street, died on Saturday from injuries received a few days ago by falling into an area-way. His skull was badly fractured, and he remained insensible from the time of the accident until death.

FOUND DEAD IN BED.—ANDREW MCDONALD, of No. 137 Bridge-street, was found dead in bed yesterday morning at his residence. The deceased was in his usual health the night before, and, it is supposed, died from a disease of the heart.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—A boy, three years old named JOSEPH F. MCAVOY, was instantly killed on Friday, by the falling of a bank of earth upon him, at the corner of Atlantic and Vanderbilt avenues.

YOUTHFUL DEPRAVITY.—A boy only thirteen years of age, named THOMAS MCDONNELL, was on Saturday sent to the House of Refuge by Justice CORNWELL as an habitual drunkard.

A FIGHT PREVENTED.—A party of roughs went into the 8th Ward yesterday to have a fight, but the Police got wind of the arrangements and prevented the consummation.

CITY COURT.—Calendar for this day Nos. 5 and 15, Fourth Monday causes. Jury causes Nos. 21, 56, 81, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 12, 40, 14.

OUT-OF-DOOR SPORTS.

Base Ball.

BROOKLYN VS. MANHATTAN.

A match between the above clubs took place on Saturday, and after a very even game, in which some very good play was shown on both sides, the Manhattan men became the victors. For them Hudson, Tuomey, Many, Bogert and Hefron played very finely; and for Brooklyn, Ketchum, Walter, Waring and Giles were excellent.

The score is as follows:

EMPIRE VS. HAMILTON, OF JERSEY CITY.

These clubs played a singular game at the Elysian Fields on Saturday. The Empire men have been known as heavy batters, and the Hamilton men spread their outfielders for the accommodation, but the consequence being that what with weak batting and unsteady throwing the Empire men made eleven runs in the third innings, and were then only beaten by better fielding on the part of Hamilton, which however changed a game, while the Empire men made seven changes. For Empire, Messrs. Dewey, Moore, Miller and Loper were the most distinguished, and for Hamilton, Messrs. Hodges, A. W. Shaffer, Cowsen and Gough were the best. Mr. Clark hurt his hand badly, and retired from 1st base in favor of Gough.

The following is the score:

Base Ball Match in Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Saturday, Sept. 22.

The base ball match between the Excelsior Club of Brooklyn, and the Excelsior Club of this city, came off this afternoon, and resulted in the victory of the former. The score stood at the close of the game: Excelsiors of Brooklyn, fifty-one; Excelsiors of Baltimore, six.

Horse-Race at Lexington, Ky.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Saturday, Sept. 22.

From the New-Yorker.

The Lottery Firm of FRANCE, BROADBENTS & Co. have had a serious difficulty among themselves. The following cards tell the story. We suppose the upshot of the affair will be, that their business will go into the hands of a Receiver. First, as follows:

NOTICE OF DISSOLUTION OF COPARTNERSHIP.—The firm heretofore existing under the name of FRANCE, BROADBENT & CO., is this day dissolved. No obligations whatever, issued after this date, in the name of that firm, will be recognized by the undersigned. The Delaware and Kentucky Lotteries will be hereafter drawn by the undersigned as grantee, and tickets issued in his name, and any tickets issued in the name of FRANCE, BROADBENTS & Co., after this date, will be null and void. Tickets for the month of September, now in the hands of agents, will be recognized, and prizes paid accordingly.

R. FRANCE.

WILMINGTON, Sept. 8, 1860.

Then the retort courteous, to wit:

TO THE CITIZENS OF DELAWARE.—There appeared in the different newspapers throughout the country, a few days ago, a publication signed by R. FRANCE, setting forth that the firm of FRANCE, BROADBENTS & Co., had been dissolved, and that he alone would hereafter draw the Delaware and Kentucky Lotteries, &c. We, the undersigned, beg leave simply to say, that the property, books, papers, &c., of the firm, were on the 8th September, inst., taken possession of, forcibly and clandestinely, by RICHARD FRANCE, while we (the firm) were absent, and that when S. BROADBENT, Sr., was confined to bed by sickness, and the city of Wilmington made the scene of a lawless and illegal act. False and slanderous reports were circulated by RICHARD FRANCE, against our characters. We are known to many of the citizens of Delaware, and to those who know us it is not necessary for us to say one word in refutation of those slanders. We have placed the whole matter in the hands of our counsel, who will adopt such remedy as the law affords, for this violation of our rights, and this defamation of characters.

ANOTHER SAFE IN THE TEXAS FIRES!
HERRING'S PATENT ALONE TRIUMPHANT!

DALLAS, Texas, Sept. 2, 1860.

Messrs. Herring & Co., New-York:

GENTLEMEN: Your esteemed favor of the 23d of July came to hand some time ago; my absence and the fire delaying the answer.

My brother, who was here during the fire, told me that at the commencement of the same, he put all my books in the safe, having full confidence in it, and as nearly every building on the square was destroyed, in this we were very fortunate, otherwise they would probably have been lost. The leather on the books simply was affected; the paper scarcely touched, and the writing all perfectly legible.

Please send me another of your $90 Safes, care of KAUFMAN & KLEENER, Galveston, on the same terms I bought the other.

Yours, respectfully, A. SHIREK.

P. S.—Some Safes of other make, tested here, have proved to be failures.
